More Than Any Other Single Leader

De Gaulle Seen Dictating Terms For Summit Parley

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than any other single leader, President Charles de Gaulle of France is dictating the terms and timing for an East-West summit conference.

In the process he is building up his own prestige and the power of the French position within the Western Alliance.

In the 10 months since he has been president—he had become premier in June 1958—De Gaulle probably has done more than anyone here really thought possible to give his country a decisive voice in the formulation of Western plans and policies. He has done it by exploiting French weaknesses as well as strength.

United States officials are less annoyed than amazed at his operation. They have displayed privately some slight irritation at his disregard of President Eisenhower's wishes on summit timing. But many feel that De Gaulle's views are very close to those which the United States has traditionally held about getting to a summit: Walk, don't run.

Latest evidence of Gaullist diplomacy is to be found in his news conference at Paris Tuesday and the comparison of plans he laid out there with the known wishes of other summit participants.

De Gaulle announced that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will visit Paris March 15 and De Gaulle hopes he will stay about two weeks. He also said he wants another Western summit gathering in advance of the East-West meeting.

Almost simultaneously, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, advocate of the hasty summit technique, was explaining to the House of Commons in London that he wanted the East-West meeting at an early date. But no one in Washington thought he had any chance of getting it.

Macmillan, Khrushchev and Eisenhower all more or less favored an East - West summit before Christmas. De Gaulle killed that by insisting that the meeting not be held until next spring.

One of Eisenhower's basic conditions for East-West talks is that the Western Allies be satisfied, so he went along with De Gaulle's technique. Macmillan had no choice unless he was willing to split the Western front.

De Gaulle laid down three conditions for going to a summit. He said that first he must have his meeting with Khrushchev; second, there must be a relaxation of international tension; and third, the Western leaders must understand each other in advance of their negotiations with Khrushchev.

U.S. officials do not question De Gaulle's sincerity in making these requirements. But they do think his stated reasons only partially reflect the real pressures operating on him to slow down the summit process. They analyze these as follows:

1. De Gaulle is determined to meet Khrushchev before sitting down in a four-power conference with him because Macmillan and Eisenhower have had private talks with the Soviet leader.

2. The French president wants to explode the French nuclear weapon before the negotiations open. Otherwise, he will be at a great disadvantage in talking about disarmament.

3. De Gaulle hopes to have brought about a much more stable political situation in Algeria. Particularly, he is said to feel that Soviet good behavior with respect to Algeria is a necessary pre-condition for a summit meeting.

Steel Mills Stepping Up Operations

More Than 50% Of Industry's Workers Are Back On Jobs

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Steel mills throughout the country hummed with activity today as the giant industry gradually stepped up operations following a court-ordered end of the 116-day nationwide steel strike.

More than 50 per cent of the basic steel industry's 500,000 workers are back on the job. The rest are expected to be back at work by the weekend.

Mills are turning out fairly large tonnages of new steel. Only five days after the U.S. Supreme Court upheld a Taft-Hartley injunction ending the strike, the big U.S. Steel Corp. reported mills producing above 25 per cent of capacity. The firm said it may hit 60 per cent of capacity by the weekend.

Jones & Laughlin Steel said it expects to produce at 40 per cent this week.

Although the long-idled mills swung into production relatively fast, industry sources say it will be four to six weeks before the mills can produce at the normal rate of about 90 per cent.

Still hard-hit by the effects of the strike are the approximately 335,000 workers who were idled in other fields because their jobs depend on a going steel industry.

About 20,000 of these—mostly railroaders and coal miners—have been called back to work. But for thousands of others, particularly those employed in industries that use steel, there will be a longer period of idleness until fresh steel supplies become available.

General Motors Corp. announced it would close the last of its passenger car assembly lines today, idling 7,100 more workers. Chrysler Corp. said it has enough steel for only two more weeks.

Iron ore, one of steel's raw materials, is being moved by iron ore fleets from the upper Great Lakes to the mills. The ships normally stop operating in mid-December when the lakes freeze, but the Army Corps of Engineers announced the usual Dec. 15 closing of the Soo Locks between Lakes Superior and Huron will be postponed indefinitely so the badly needed ore can continue to move to mills.

5-POINT FARM PROGRAM. After meeting with President Eisenhower for more than an hour Tuesday, Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson told newsmen at the White House that he and the Chief Executive have agreed on a 5-point farm program to be submitted to Congress next year. In the background is James Hagerty, press secretary. (UPI Telephoto)

Price Props Are Figured Differently

Based On Market Prices Rather Than Old Parity Formula

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson have announced a farm program they will present to Congress next year.

Its key provisions are:

1. To base price supports of storable commodities, particularly wheat, on market prices rather than on the old parity formula. The administration submitted much the same plan to the Democratic-controlled Congress this year and it was rejected.

2. To expand the voluntary retirement of land from crop production for the next five or 10 years, with particular reference to areas with big crop surpluses. This is an extension of Benson's present conservation reserve, program.

Also included are a stepping up of research for developing new markets and uses for farm products; a vigorous "food-for-peace" program to use up surpluses by making more available to friendly countries; and an expanded rural development program to help low-income farmers obtain a higher standard of living.

All of these programs have been in effect for some time.

Benson described the program at a White House news conference Tuesday after a talk with the President.

Parity is a standard designed to give the farmer fair prices for his products in relation to the cost of things he buys.

Sends Pieces To Steel Strike Leaders

Mitchell Eats 'Cake Hat' In Losing Jobs Prediction

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell today ate his hat—a fedora made of cake—because unemployment failed to fall below three million last month as he had predicted.

But Mitchell sent a slice apiece to the leaders of the steel strike which kept joblessness high, President David J. McDonald of the United Steelworkers Union and the industry's top bargainer R. Conrad Cooper.

"I was a couple of hundred thousand off in my predictions, due entirely to the steel strike, not to any weakness in our economy," Mitchell said.

Unemployment in October was 3,270,000 though employment was 66,800,000, a record for the month.

Mitchell in April predicted that by last month employment would rise to 67 million and joblessness would drop below 3 million.

When AFL - CIO President George Meany accused him of talking through his hat, Mitchell promised to eat his headpiece on the front steps of the Labor Department if he were proved wrong.

Aides to the secretary had a hat made of cake so the boss wouldn't get indigestion paying off.

The detailed figures given out by the Labor Department after the symbolic hat eating showed that employment rose 484,000 in October to 66,831,000. Unemployment rose 42,000 to 3,272,000.

The proportion of unemployment to the work force rose from 5.6 per cent in September to 6 per cent in October. The ratio was 5.3 per cent last April when Mitchell made his predictions.

Seymour Wolfbein, deputy assistant secretary of labor, estimated the layoffs due to the steel strike rose to the neighborhood of half a million before the strikers went back to work under a Taft-Hartley law court injunction.

Officials calculated that unemployment in October would have been in the neighborhood of 2,800,000, or nearly a half million less than the actual figures, if there had been no steel strike.

Average hourly earnings of factory workers declined slightly to $2.21, lowering average weekly earnings to $89.06.

Mitchell made his forecasts in a speech last April to a giant AFL-CIO rally here. Over 5,000 union members, many unemployed, demanded more government jobless aid and job-making moves.

The latest prior job and jobless totals, for September, were announced a month ago. They showed 66,347,000 employed and 3,230,000 unemployed. The steel strikers and others idled in labor walkouts are not counted as unemployed, but those furloughed as a result of strikes are included.

Actually, Mitchell's prediction of 67 million employed by October came true much earlier. June, July and August all showed working totals topping that figure. Because of the steel strike the figure since has slid back below 67 million.

TV And Radio Are Figuring In New Probe

FCC Hearings Aim To Learn Of Power To Punish Fakery

WASHINGTON (AP) — Television and radio figure in a new investigation. It could mean a government crackdown on rigged quizzes, paid-off disc jockeys, and offensive commercials.

In a surprise turnabout Tuesday, the Federal Communications Commission announced it would begin hearings soon to find out whether it has power to punish fakery in broadcasting.

If it lacks the power, the commission said, it might ask Congress for new laws.

Until now, the commission has ruled it lacks authority to check program content, except to keep out obscenity and lotteries. The new policy came after a unanimous vote of five members. The two other commissioners are out of the country.

The commission will handle its new study as part of an inquiry it already has under way into network policies relating to program selection.

It said it was acting as a result of disclosures by a House investigating subcommittee that producers have rigged quiz shows by feeding answers to contestants. Other irregularities also were disclosed.

City Man Sues For Unwanted Airplane Trip

A city man, inadvertently taken on an extra 4,000-mile airplane trip while he was asleep as a passenger, has filed a $5,611 suit against the airline for "loss of time, inconvenience, nervous harassment and expense."

Thomas Lanam, 432 Sugar St., filed the suit Tuesday in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon against the Capitol Airlines of Washington.

Lanam claims he obtained a ticket Oct. 29 at Buffalo, N. Y., for Pittsburgh and boarded the plane "in a high state of fatigue," falling asleep at 2:20 a. m.

He awoke during a landing which he thought was at Pittsburgh, but learned instead it was Cleveland, he said. He said he went back to sleep, relying upon employes to awaken him at Pittsburgh, but when he finally awoke, he was told by the stewardess the plane was over Georgia and the next stop was Miami, Fla.

Lanam said he returned to Pittsburgh at 11:50 p. m., but left a handbag with gifts with a ticket agent — valued at $149 — which has not been located. He claims the airline employes were negligent in failing to awaken him, causing him loss of time and work while on the 4,000-mile sidetrip.

Government Begins Test Of Cranberries

100 Inspectors And 60 Chemists Search For Contamination

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government fanned out 100 inspectors and 60 chemists today to test cranberries for possible contamination by a dangerous weed-killer.

Only limited quantities of berries from Washington and Oregon have been found to be contaminated, but checks will be run also on those from other producing areas.

Cranberry producers howled for the scalp of Arthur S. Flemming, secretary of health, education and welfare, who set off the gigantic cranberry scare at a news conference Monday.

Ambrose E. Stevens, vice president of the National Cranberry Assn., said in New York Flemming's action could wipe out the 50-million-dollar industry.

He wired Flemming asking that "you take immediate steps to rectify the incalculable damages caused by your ill-informed and ill-advised press statement."

The association is a cooperative that markets 75 per cent of the nation's cranberries under the Ocean Spray label. Its president, George C.P. Olsson, said at Boston he is thinking about asking Congress to reimburse the industry for 100 million dollars.

Carleton I. Pickett, executive secretary of the Massachusetts Farm Bureau, sent a telegram to President Eisenhower asking him to fire Flemming.

In the confusion, a number of grocery chains took all cranberry products off their shelves. The Washington state director of agriculture asked the state's grocers to do likewise. There was similar quarantine action in San Francisco and British Columbia.

At least one big chain, First National, said it would go on selling cranberries because all its berries came from Massachusetts, New Jersey and Wisconsin.

Flemming's announcement said there was no reason to suspect berries from any place but Washington and Oregon, which produce about 10 per cent of the crop. Massachusetts growers stand to lose most from the scare since they produce almost half the crop.

Flemming said improper use of a weed killer, aminotriazole, had resulted in contamination of part of the 1959 crop on the West Coast. The drug, fed to rats over a two-year period, caused cancer of the thyroid.

Cold Weather And Snow Due

Mercury Will Drop To Mid-20's Tonight

Don't look now, but the weatherman is sneaking in from the west to belt East Liverpool unexpectedly with a blast of frigid air, followed by snow flurries.

Although the mercury will go up to a high of 55-60 today, there will be a sudden and sharp fall this afternoon and tonight, the forecaster said.

It will be cloudy, windy and much colder tonight and Thursday, with occasional showers changing to snow flurries by Thursday morning, the forecaster said.

The low tonight will be 25-30.

The cold weather is blowing in from the Midwest and the Plains States, which have been hit by low temperatures and snow.

It will be a far cry from the unseasonably mild readings of the last few days. Dam 8 at Newell recorded a high of 55 at 3 p. m. Tuesday. The overnight low was 42, recorded at midnight and 1 and 2 a. m.

Drive To Show Van Doren As Fraud Cited By Prober

WASHINGTON (AP)—The man Charles Van Doren ousted on the rigged TV quiz show "Twenty-One" conducted a crusade to expose Van Doren as a fraud, a House committee investigator says.

The contestant, Herbert Stempel, has testified he was ordered by the show's producers to lose deliberately to Van Doren. Stempel himself had won $49,000.

Stempel was infuriated by Van Doren's going on to win $129,000 and unearned nationwide fame as a great brain, investigator Richard N. Goodwin writes in a Life magazine article.

"Stempel embarked upon what he called a crusade for truth but which became a campaign to expose Van Doren and the entire fraudulent quiz show business," Goodwin said.

Goodwin said Stempel was one of the best sources of information the House subcommittee had in setting up the hearings that disclosed that the television quiz shows were shot through with fixing and fakery.

The climax for Stempel came last week, Goodwin said, when Van Doren finally confessed to the committee that he had been given all the answers in advance, as well as coaching on how to grimace and wipe sweat from his brow in the isolation booth.

"Stempel flew down from New York to watch him testify," Goodwin said. "He sat in a section of the caucus room where he could see Van Doren's face. His long campaign had come to a dramatic end: Phony quiz shows had been destroyed."

Goodwin added, "Stempel's feelings about 'Twenty-One' itself went deeper than his admittedly strong feelings about Van Doren. While he was on the show, Stempel was called 'the poor boy from Brooklyn' (he wasn't poor, and he was from Queens).

"In his humble role he had to address the master of ceremonies as 'Mr. Barry'. (Other contestants called him 'Jack'). Every week Stempel wore the same old suit and a shirt that was frayed around the collar. One night he decided to wear a good suit. After the show, producer Dan Enright said: 'You're not doing your homework, Herb.'

300 To Get Polio Shots At Clinic In Wellsville

More than 300 school children will be given their first polio shot in a clinic to be held Thursday morning at Wellsville MacDonald School.

Mrs. Jennie Calhoun, school nurse, said the number is considerably less than was anticipated. It indicates many parents are taking their children to their family doctor for the shots, she said.

Dr. Gustave Peller, city health commissioner, and Mrs. Calhoun will conduct the clinic from 9 to 11:15 a. m. in the all-purpose room at the school. They will be assisted by Mrs. Janet O'Hara, Mrs. Jean Tipton, Mrs. Rhea Nile and Mrs. Edith McMichaels, all registered nurses. Transportation will be furnished for children from McKinley and Garfield Schools. The second clinic will be Dec. 10.

Chapel Inspired Ike In Dedication To Peace

LONDON (AP)—President Eisenhower says the American chapel in St. Paul's Cathedral, dedicated to fallen U. S. servicemen of World War II, inspired in him "a renewed dedication to do everything possible to promote the cause of peace."

The President wrote to the English Speaking Union to express his appreciation to the Britons whose contributions built the chapel in London's great cathedral.

Budget 'Jam' Is Broken In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG — The five-week deadlock on Gov. David L. Lawrence's budget was resolved Tuesday night.

The House - Senate Conference Committee agreed on $1,483,785,688 for the Administration's 1959-61 General Fund budget and gave this legislative session a big shove toward final adjournment.

The committee restored $5,895,906 of the $31,000,000 cut from the spending program that had been approved by the Democratic controlled House.

Included in the restorations were:

$2,000,000 — for state aid in urban renewal, boosting the urban renewal fund to $5,000,000.

$320,000 — to the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Fund. This, with interest due from past loans, will give the Department of Commerce the full $10,000.00 asked by Governor Lawrence for the industrial development program.

$3,300,000 — to the Philadelphia County health unit. A request for another $2,500,000 for the Philadelphia General Hospital was denied.

Grave Of Unknowns Decorated

Varied Program Of Events Marks 1959 Veterans' Day

By The Associated Press

A general places a wreath on the Tomb of the Unknowns, paraders march through the streets, speakers talk of glory and death, and some Americans take a holiday today as the nation celebrates Veterans Day 1959.

These ceremonies pay tribute to the American men and women who have fought in the wars of the United States.

Still alive to receive the tributes are one Confederate veteran of the Civil War, 60 veterans of the Indian wars, 42,000 Spanish American War veterans, 2,750,000 veterans of World War I, 15,230,000 veterans of World War II, and 5,456,000 Korean War veterans.

Honored as well are the millions who fought for their nation and died.

The nation's capital sets the tone as Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, Army chief of staff, lays President Eisenhower's wreath on the Tomb of the Unknowns in Arlington National Cemetery. Retired Gen. Alfred Wedemeyer delivers the main address at services in the Arlington Amphitheater.

Cities all over the nation and military posts all over the world have similar ceremonies.

Under a rotation system, this year's Washington ceremonies are in charge of the American Legion. Other veterans' groups have picked these other cities as sites for their main services: The Amvets at Chicago, the Army Navy Legion at Philadelphia, the Disabled Veterans at Dodge City, Kan., the Marine Corps League at Harrisburg, Pa., and the Veterans for Foreign Wars at Birmingham, Ala.

House Hikes School Aid In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG — The House of Representatives by an overwhelming vote of 154 to 36 Tuesday night passed legislation to increase state aid to 2,300 school districts by more than $100,000,000 over the next four years.

Republicans and Democrats joined in overriding a few protestants who pleaded for a tax bill to accompany the measure, while lobbyists for the teachers and school directors sat watchfully on the sidelines.

The measure does not mandate raises for the teachers, but by increasing subsidies to the school districts opens the way for raises to be granted at the local level.

The bill, which goes now to the Senate, would cost an estimated $55,000,000 in the 1959-61 session now in existence, and better than $60,000,000 in the 1961-63 biennium.

Looted Hancock Safe Found In Canton Area

Authorities near Canton found over the weekend a safe stolen from a New Cumberland man's home in October and an investigation is being continued by West Virginia State Police.

The 300-pound safe, believed to have contained about $2,000, was found along a road near Louisville. The safe's door had been removed, but authorities do not believe explosives were used.

The safe was stolen from Benny Phillips of 406 Chester St., while he was away from home. Authorities believe that thieves slid the bulky safe across the floor of the home on bed sheets and hauled it away in a waiting truck. One empty money bag found in the safe is in the possession of New Cumberland authorities.

Veterans Day—Nov. 11, 1959

Tri-state communities paused again today to pay tribute to those men and women who have served their country in time of need.

The same clouds of uncertainty that have hovered over like observances in recent years are still with us. And, barring unexpected developments, they will be with us for years to come as the threat of nuclear war continues.

Veterans Day means many things to many people. For some it is a time of solemn remembrance. For others it signifies martial music, parades, joyful reunions. And for still others it is a day of thoughtful reflection as to what is in store for those now undergoing training in the armed services and for those awaiting the call in the years to come.

The somewhat carefree, happy-go-lucky atmosphere that prevailed for some time after World War I does not fit into the present scheme of things. The realization that our very philosophy of life is at stake serves as a sobering note for any outward overdisplay of exuberance.

To those who have paid the supreme sacrifice — a reverent "well done" and may your souls rest in peace.

To those who survived — may love of country and devotion to the American way of life burn ever brighter.

To those yet to become veterans — hold no ill will for those who have shouldered the task before you. They have borne the burden of democracy to the best of their ability — sometimes well and sometimes not so well. The burden will become yours at some future time. Be prepared to accept it as men and women proud to be free. The obligation will be great and you must not be found wanting.

Crushing News About Cranberries

While U. S. government officials and leaders of the cranberry industry argue about something called aminotriazole and its effect on the public health, the bulk of Americans contemplate and discuss in tones of shocked disbelief this national tragedy that has befallen them.

The real tragedy in the public mind is not that a villainous chemical has found its way into some of the bitter but beloved berries. The tragedy is that anything scandalous could damage the hallowed status of something as American as roast turkey and pumpkin pie.

Many a housewife grimly ponders the drab prospect of a holiday table deprived of the bright dash of color ordinarily provided by a shimmering dish of red cranberry sauce.

Many a prospective holiday glutton ponders what drab substitute may be served to him in place of the tart complement to the other rich delights that will stretch his belt to popping point.

Is there, in fact, any such thing as a substitute for cranberry sauce at a Thanksgiving feast? Some cuisine creators may indeed simply leave an empty space on the groaning board in mournful memory of the temporary demise of a great tradition.

Still others, overwhelmed by the old-fashioned American spirit of gritty individualism, will see a patriotic duty to be done and remain steadfastly loyal to the maligned cranberry, innocent victim of modern science and modern government.

The more emotional of them might well express their Americanism by sitting down to table, bowing their heads in thanksgiving and cryng "Damn the aminotriazole! Full speed ahead!"

But for everyone, the cautious and the courageous, cranberries will be present at American tables this year, whether in sad conversation or happy consumption. Thanksgiving is not Thanksgiving without them.

Twisting The Dove's Tail

Communist China has performed a service of sorts in its boundary dispute with India. After months of barbed exchanges between the two nations over which is the aggressor in the quarrel, Peiping has made a tacit confession of guilt.

It has proposed that the issue be settled by the creation of a 25-mile no man's land in the mountainous territory between them.

This is a familiar gimmick in the recent history of aggression. The Communists have developed it into a skillful maneuver with a high degree of success. The Indian border fight provides an excellent example of how.

The Reds first stirred up the trouble by moving across the admittedly vague border and setting up camp, killing a few Indian policemen along the way. Since the territory involved can scarcely be said to have any great residential, resource or strategic value, the motive was probably to distract world attention from the Red massacre in Tibet or the Red economic failure at home or both.

Playing upon the reticence of neutralist Nehru to reply with harsh and hasty action, the Chinese Reds proceeded to fan the flames of dissention with characteristic insolence.

Then, when things got hot enough to force the Indian leader to take a tough tone in his formal protests to Peiping, the peace pipe was offered in the form of a "buffer zone."

Under the proposal, India and Red China would pull their forces back 12½ miles on their respective sides of the boundary, leaving a 25-mile no man's land between. But it would not be empty. The Reds suggest that civil administrators and unarmed policemen remain.

This is simply another way of asking India to move her border back 12½ miles and let the Reds take over. But it has the sly advantage of appearing to be a peace move. And, because the mountain territory is of little value to India except for the principle involved, the buffer zone plan might be tempting enough to lure peace-loving Nehru into the trap.

If it is accepted, it will make the Communists appear to be taking the offensive for peace instead of revealing them as simply being offensive.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

The National Horse Show has been entertainment feature for a week and it was refreshing interval. Not a horse had to be summoned before a grand jury, Washington committee or district attorney. To a country shocked by dishonesty of human beings there was a terrific life in a show (it was on TV, too) which demonstrated that animals are on the level and have character.

Mortimer Topblower went to the horse show cynically suspecting, from his study of world scene, that smart, fast-dollar and unethical folks would get into the act, selling horses on the idea of a "fix" in the park hackney, green hunter and military jumping events, not to mention the tallyho parade.

He has a way with animals and got into their confidence. "This was a show to lift men's hearts," he declares.

"Not a horse in the ring faked the performance. In fact, during the show a stranger was kicked and badly hurt. It turned out to be a show-business guy who was trying to convince a three-gaited saddle horse that crookedness over the hurdles was okay if it came under the head of entertainment.

"This horse told me a crook had proposed to rehearse it in bogus nervousness, excitement, balks and such things. The animal declared the fellow had said things could be arranged so every fence would be easy, if it would help boost tired blood pills and cosmetics," Topblower said.

"The horse let him have it when the fixer asked him to make facial grimaces, sweat and ask at every fence, 'Can I go back to that one later?' "

"There is something wonderful about a horse," we said.

"You can say that again," declared Topblower. "There was one skinner that jumped out of his stall and fled the Garden. It seems three men had approached it as an escort into the ring. It thought they were two cops and a bank vault attendant, and it went mad."

QUIZ SHOW SENSATIONS indicated need of immediate study of adult delinquency. Maybe the country needs a "National Shame Week." Or a "Let's Think It Over Month" with special attention to these subjects:

1. Is American higher education doing too much to advance stupidity?

2. Are the intelligentsia pushovers for Broadway percentagers who never went to school?

3. Is a law needed to determine who guards the guards who guard the questions?

CASTRO ACTS more and more like Mussolini without soap or razor blades.

Famed orchestra leader says he was promised questions wouldn't embarrass him but says if he had known of a fix he "wouldn't have done it in a million years." This is like declaring he wasn't told what he already knew.

K.K.T. writes, "What happened on quiz shows was a reflection of American standards. People have a passion for publicity, easy money and effortless rewards. The cheap characters who have been defying all decencies for a generation have become public idols, indicating greater glorification and fatter contracts are rewards for shabby behavior. If the present generation has followed the pattern it's no wonder."

WE WERE READING the new book on Thomas Edison last night but the electric light bulb kept going out.

"The play 'Life With Father' was written by George Day's brother Clarence Day." — Herald Tribune. (Yoo-hoo, Lindsey & Crouse.)

A Russian surgeon has succeeded in grafting an extra heart on a dog, and thinks it can be done with humans. A man with two hearts is going to have rough going in traffic jams. But he will have an advantage when in love with two women at the same time.

With Red Chinese 40 miles inside Indian borders and killing Indan troops, Nehru says, "We must not be carried away by emotions. We must act with restraint and responsibility."

King Albert of the Belgians lacked responsibility when the border was violated, we assume and the Minute Men at Bunker Hill were just men who were too emotional.

Democracy In The Raw

Reuther To Hit Big Business Again

By Victor Riesel

Those who sit in Walter Reuther's small intimate circle say that the Detroit flash always telegraphs his punches. And those who have been with him in Washington these past few days report he will step back into character in 1960. The play will be to revive the lusty old-fashioned CIO attacks on big business and national political leaders with the tactics which hurled Reuther into the international limelight.

Victor Riesel

He will not want for money for his propaganda and political offensives. There is more than 3½ million dollars in the treasury of a special AFL-CIO division created in the image of the CIO. It's called the Industrial Union Department, and Reuther is its president.

His militant sidekick and shadow is Jim Carey, the IUD secretary-treasurer. Those are the same posts they held in the old CIO.

WHEN REUTHER is rolling, he does what comes naturally—he calls for a mass conference. That's exactly what he wants this spring —a mass political parley of farm, labor and ADA-liberal "forces," preferably somewhere in the Midwest.

He wants this called just about the time it can cast its shadow over the Democratic party's national convention.

From its platform, as in days of old—the days away back in 1924 of the farmer-labor rallies of La-Follette's Progressive party — Reuther hopes to have speakers warn the major party leaders to nominate friendly candidates — or else.

That "or else" is in his long report to the IUD convention. Unnoticed by a public sopping up today's TV-scandal headlines, that report had the headlines of tomorrow.

Reuther said, in effect, labor could no longer just back the Democratic party. The time had come to force out the more conservative elements. Get them out into another party. Go out into the North and West and fight the old political leaders in the primaries. Get labor's men nominated.

WHEN REUTHER is rolling, he continues to do what comes naturally—that means he whips up a rallying slogan.

Reuther will pound the hustings with a battle cry right out of the old CIO marching days. Big business, he will charge, is trying to destroy the big industrial unions, not only steel but the Auto Workers, the Electrical Workers and the Railway Brotherhoods.

There is no doubt that Reuther will flash in as the leader of the embattled industrial unions and will appear the champion of the Rail Brotherhoods as well.

Coupled with this will be a drive for a congressional investigation of American business. Already Reuther has said that the McClellan committee really was "a politically inspired fishing expedition . . . intended to get our industrial unions."

Now he and his colleagues will demand equal time—a Senate probe of business, its expenditures, its expense accounts, its dividend payments, its operating practices.

Already they have talked to some friendly senators. Already there is talk of trying to put on the witness stand U.S. Steel's Roger Blough, General Electric's Ralph Cordiner and the Railroad Association's Daniel P. Loomis.

NO CONJECTURE this. A demand for a probe is plainly written in an IUD attack unleashed the other day by Reuther's colleague Al Whitehouse, IUD director.

Whitehouse charges that industry spends five to 10 billion dollars a year on expense accounts. Industrial "waste" costs the American consumer "billions." Bonus payments and other stock programs are "industrial featherbedding."

So the old CIO forces want a congressional probe or public hearing by a committee of prominent Americans. If Reuther doesn't get one such hearing, he'll get another.

There is no doubt that the swift Detroiter has broken loose again.

The 'Rocky' Road Ahead

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Which way Rockefeller?

It's no longer a question of whether New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller wants to run for president—that's plain enough—but whether he will try to shake loose from President Eisenhower's shadow.

To put it briefly:

1. He can be a "me-too" contender, agreeing with what the Eisenhower administration has done at home and abroad.

2. He can try to come up with his own ideas, even if it means differing from Eisenhower and criticizing the administration's performance.

Right now he is simply trying to see whether he has any chance at all against Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the Republican presidential nomination in 1960. Nixon has had years to line up the pros on his side.

But Rockefeller is working hard at it. He has made a speech-foray into the Middle West, ducked in and out of New England, been interviewed on TV, and soon heads for the Far West, Nixon's backyard.

Since Eisenhower has twice won overwhelming endorsement from the voters, it might seem politically sensible to ride his coattails with the "me-too" line.

That's a course Nixon will almost be compelled to follow since he has been so actively identified so long in the public mind with Eisenhower and his administration.

If Rockefeller took that line, too, then the race between him and Nixon would be reduced to a personality contest and not a choice between ideas and views.

At this moment Eisenhower is taking a hands-off attitude toward these two top Republicans. He is expected to campaign vigorously for the one picked to be the party candidate.

Rockefeller could hardly look forward to over-exertion by Eisenhower on his behalf if he sought the nomination by criticizing administraton polices. Besides, the Democrats will make that their main theme, anyway.

There's another side to this, of course. It is questionable Eisenhower would have much influence in getting a Republican elected as his successor. He himself won overwhelmingly in 1952 and 1956.

But three times—in 1954, 1956, and 1958 — he pleaded with the voters to back him up by giving the Republicans control of Congress. Each time the Democrats won.

So far Rockefeller has shown signs of independence, of not wanting to win under cover of the Eisenhower mantle, although it's too soon to say how far he will pursue this course.

Rockefeller has at times assumed an aloof attitude toward the Soviets, although he met with Premier Nikita Khrushchev on the latter's formal visit to this country.

He has gone further since by warning the free world it may become a patsy for the Soviets if it increases trade with the Soviet bloc now. Eisenhower and Khrushchev discussed the possibility of such increased trade.

The United States—on Eisenhower's order—has joined the Soviet Union and Britain in suspending nuclear testing while they tried to work out some fool-proof agreement to ban such tests altogether.

Rockefeller, unimpressed, recently came out for test resumption. Whether or not Rockefeller appreciated the support he got, former President Truman shortly afterwards called for a resumption of the tests, too.

A plea Rockefeller made this week may cost him some friends in organized labor. He asked that management and labor for at least a decade abandon any idea of a 30-hour work week in order to increase American production.

In the same speech, delivered Monday, he proposed increased defense spending. He said this at a time when the Eisenhower administration wants to keep spending down.

This may indicate Rockefeller has decided, win or lose, to walk down his own road. It's too soon to say how far he is willing to go in this direction.

Morse's Ox Is Gored

By David Lawrence

Senator Forgets Some "Peonage' Angles

What's this about Sen. Morse (D-Ore) denouncing the Supreme Court of the United States for its decision in the steel case? Doesn't he, as a former dean of the law school of the University of Oregon, know that whatever the Supreme Court says is "the law of the land?

David Lawrence

Hasn't he been reading what his fellow liberals have been saying for months—namely, that to criticize the Supreme Court, as the good people of the South have been doing, is to "undermine the judiciary" and "defy the Constitution"?

Certainly the Oregon senator, once elected as a Republican and now a Democrat, knows all this. But he has the courage of his convictions.

He is an ardent partisan of the labor cause at times, yet he hasn't hesitated to criticize union labor.

Once, while a public member of the National War Labor Board, he wrote a stinging decision excoriating John L. Lewis and his leadership of the miners' union.

What the Oregon Democrat this time is objecting to fundamentally perhaps is that the court should exercise any coercive power at all on labor unions during a strike.

Thus, he speaks of the injunction order in the steel controversy as "economic peonage" and says:

"The Supreme Court's decision permits the steel industry management to break a strike and enforce free men to work against their will or go to jail while the anti-union steel officials go scot free."

THE ARGUMENT has a familiar ring. Existing law—namely, the Taft-Hartley Act—contains many an element of compulsion. It compels a man to join a union or lose his job.

To overcome this form of "economic peonage," some states now have laws or clauses in their constitutions giving a worker the right to work even if he doesn't join a union.

The compulsory factor is imbedded also in the collective bargaining process. A majority of the employes choose the union as a bargaining agent and the employer is required by law to deal with that representative. As for the minority group in a plant, they are deprived of their right to bargain for themselves as a unit. They, too, could claim they are the victims of "economic peonage."

Another element of compulsion arises when an employe is dismissed for attempting to organize a union. The employer is compelled by government order to reinstate the employe.

Evidently Sen. Morse isn't always against compulsion, even when there is no law specifically governing the points in dispute, for he says:

"The Supreme Court completely ignored the doctrine of inherent executive power. It failed to apply the basic doctrine of equality of justice and the equality of legal obligations to both sides in the steel dispute."

HARRY TRUMAN, as President of the United States in 1952, used the doctrine of "inherent executive power" to seize the steel mills and was rebuked by the Supreme Court, which said there was no law that gave him such power and that there was nothing inherent in the executive power to allow such a step to be taken constitutionally.

Mr. Morse goes on to say:

"If government has the power in a national emergency to force a man to work or go to jail it also has an inherent power to order a fair contract of work, covering hours, wages and conditions of employment during the period of enforced labor."

The lawyers of the South, of course, have been bitterly castigated because they denied the doctrine of "inherent power" as it has been applied in school "desegregation" rulings.

They opposed the idea that the judiciary could write injunctions prescribing administrative duties in the operation of the schools.

There was not then, and there is not now, any federal law on the statute books giving the federal government or the judiciary power to run the schools. Yet, for their remonstrance on this point, the Southerners were vilified in print as lawless, as extremists, and as disrespectful to the constitution itself.

ONE WONDERS what would have been said of the Southern senators or of Gov. Faubus, if any one of them had said, with respect to the loss of state rights over the schools, what Sen. Morse said about the Supreme Court decision in the steel case:

"Every American flag should fly at half-mast for 80 days in memory of the precious loss of freedom."

The Oregon senator added that all workers would resent the "unconscionable injustice" in the court's decision.

All this, to be sure, comes under the head of free speech and, as usual, everything in politics depends on whose ox is gored.

The Tie That Binds

By Truman Twill

My trouble with neckties is typical, I suppose. It may not be one of life's big problems, but it's pesky.

I am bored with the ties I'm wearing. Yet, I have no reason to obtain a new assortment and no intention of doing so. There will be some Christmas ties along presently, though they will not alter the problem.

The problem is the fact ties are made to last indefinitely. Moreover, they are expensive enough to constitute enough value to be thought of as investment.

I should imagine the neckties now in my possession — all of them representing gifts, incidentally — represent several hundred dollars' worth of original value. Yet I am sick of the lot, including one that was given to me some years ago as a special presentation piece costing, I suppose, as much as I once paid for a suit of clothes in a happier era.

The question is what we necktie wearers are supposed to do when we get bored. There is no standardized way out of the dilemma. Maybe there is for rugged characters who could throw the ties away, but not for wispy-washies like me who think a necktie is institutional and not expendable.

Even when the inventory piles up so high it must be reduced for lack of space on the tie rack, I cannot throw a necktie away. I have bestowed hundreds of them in my life on other men, though not always with their enthusiastic consent. Perhaps they threw them away; I wouldn't want to know.

How does an ordinary man happen to have so many ties? Simple. I never bought a tie in my life, except for some special use, such as a black tie for wearing with a dinner coat. But ties keep coming my way from people who want to do something for me and take this logical way out of their perplexity. They know I wear ties six days a week, when I go to work, and on Sunday if I dress up for some good reason.

So they keep giving me ties, but they never take any away. The things have no trade-in value. They last forever. Now that dry cleaners have learned how to do everything, even gravy stains are not fatal.

On top of my personal accretion of ties, furthermore, are the ties given me by my sons, who are totally indifferent to them and will wear one tie indefinitely, as long as it's nondescript. They shove off their unwanted ties on me.

I could wear a different tie each day for two months and not be close to the limit of a supply that already has been reduced this year by two bestowals on beneficiaries who I am not sure were grateful for what they received, though they said they were.

But this is a typical problem among men who wear ties routinely. Supply exceeds demand. Unlike socks, shirts and shorts, ties do not wear out. But their wearers wear out. They get tired of the same assortment morning after morning. They begin to close their eyes and stab, to see what comes up. They long for surcease from the same ties day in and day out.

They wonder why no one ever hears about necktie burglars—why wives never throw away their husbands' neckties, though they throw away their husbands' hats — why neckties are not like electric light bulbs, with just so much use built into them, then phhhhttt.

The tie that binds is not blessed, not when it goes around the neck.

On Way Back

The whooping crane is winging slowly back from the brink of extinction.

The last complete count showed the whooper population had reached 39—the largest number since scientists and bird lovers began keeping track 20 years ago. Scientists now eagerly are awaiting the final results of this fall's census, hoping for more good news.

The whooper once ranged from the Arctic to Central Mexico and from New Jersey to the Rocky Mountains, says Robert Porter Allen, research director of the National Audubon Society.

As settlers drove the huge white birds from their nesting grounds, they seemed fated to follow the great auk and passenger pigeon into extinction.

Fortunately for the cranes, the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge was created in 1937 to protect them in their wintering grounds on the Texas Gulf Coast.

Tobin To Head Drive On Muscular Dystrophy

Probate Judge Louis Tobin, 1925 St. Clair Ave., has been appointed honorary campaign chairman for Columbiana County in the 1959 March for Muscular Dystrophy.

Mrs. Helen Beck and Mrs. Lois Burdick will head the annual appeal for funds in East Liverpool.

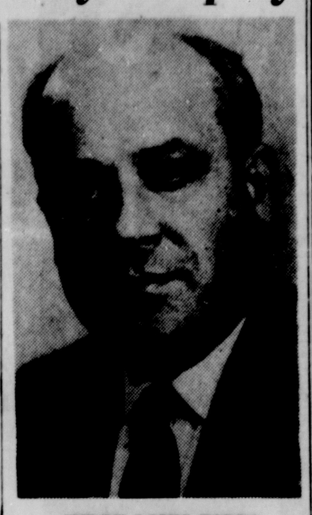

There are nearly a quarter-million victims of the disease in this country, most of them children in whom it is nearly always fatal, drive leaders said. Medical research to find the cause and an effective treatment for the malady, which still is an enigma, is the major item in MDAA's program.

The drive in East Liverpool is part of a nationwide effort in which hundreds of thousands of "marchers" will participate. It will culminate locally in a door-to-door solicitation Sunday, Nov. 22.

Many organizations are aiding, including the Catholic Daughters of America, American Legion Auxiliary 374, Women of the Moose 642 and the Altar and Rosary Society of St. Aloysius Church.

In accepting his post, Judge Tobin urged residents and community groups to give generously to the MDAA appeal.

"Among our blessings this Thanksgiving, we can count the great advances that medicine has made against other lethal diseases in the past few years," he said. "Perhaps the funds raised in this campaign will be the funds used to back the researcher who will ultimately find a cure for this destructive disease."

JUDGE LOUIS TOBIN
Directs Drive In County.

A national, non - profit association, MDAA supports nearly 100 scientific projects in some 60 great medical centers. It is sponsoring the $5 million Institute for Muscle Disease in New York City a complex of laboratory units where muscular dystrophy and allied disorders will be studied intensively. The association also maintains a network of nearly 50 muscular dystrophy clinics and supports a wide variety of patient services through its chapters.

Two Bills Killed On Sunday Bars In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG (AP) — Two bills to provide for the sale of liquor on Sundays were reported killed Tuesday in the Senate Rules Committee.

Sen. Robert D. Fleming, Republican, Allegheny, said the two measures were voted down but refused to give the exact vote. Sen. Joseph M. Barr, Democrat, Allegheny, said he and the committee's two other Democratic members — Sens. Charles R. Weiner, Philadelphia, and Frank W. Ruth, Berks — supported the measures.

One of the bills would have authorized referendums in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh to decide if hotel restaurants could sell alcoholic beverages on Sundays from 1 p. m. to 10 p. m.

The other proposal would have authorized sale of liquor from midnight until 2 a. m. on Sunday. The change would have gone into effect throughout the state without referendum.

A bill to permit Sunday bowling, sought by Pittsburgh hotels who had hoped to land the American Bowling Congress tournament in 1960, also was pickled.

You probably use basil to season tomato suaces, but try it sometimes in a butter sauce for fish.

Plans for giving Christmas treats to children were reported progressing. The committee in charge includes Albert Monac, assistant chief, Nick Zapsic and Mike Gerra.

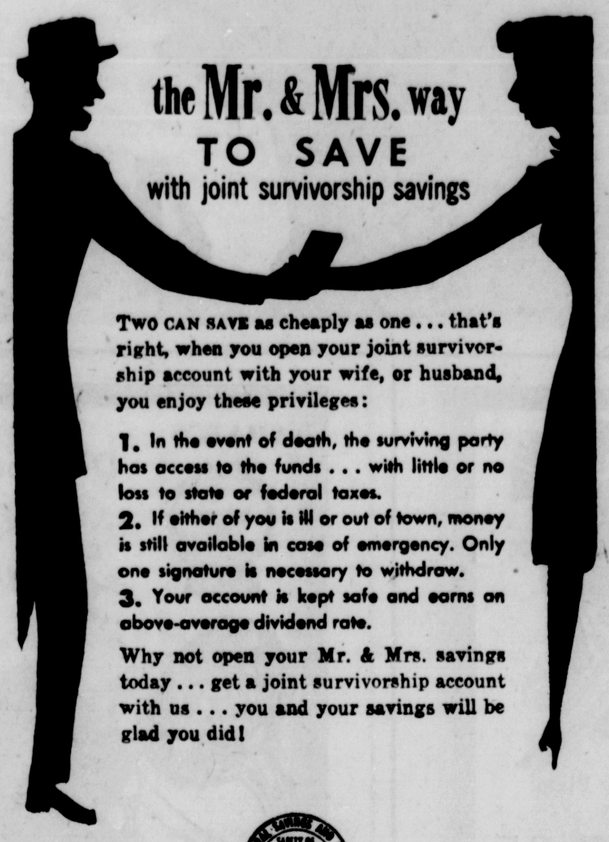

Nomination of officers was held. An election will be held at the next meeting Dec. 8. John Zdinak, president, presided.

Hearings Set For 2 Papers

CLEVELAND (AP) — Common Pleas Judge William K. Thomas has set Nov. 23 and 24 for hearing contempt of court charges against two Cleveland newspapers which disclosed grand jury indictments before those indictments were docketed.

A committee of five attorneys appointed by Judge Thomas filed an information Tuesday against the Cleveland Plain Dealer and the Cleveland Press. Spokesmen for each of the newspapers declined to comment.

Two members of the Cleveland Bar Assn. and two from the Cuyahoga County Bar Assn. served with Prosecutor John T. Corrigan in preparing the information against the two newspapers.

Corrigan said disclosures by the Press last July 23 and by the Plain Dealer the following morning "tended to obstruct the due administration of justice in this court, all of which was contrary to the laws of the State of Ohio."

New Cabins Erected At 'Y' Camp

This is the first of seven new cabins being erected at the YMCA's Pine Ridge camp to replace open - type cabins in use since 1937.

The new structures will be 18 by 20 feet and will provide much-needed additional space for camping activities, Carl A. Werner, YMCA secretary, said.

Werner, shown on the steps of the cabin, explained that the cost will not be borne by the Community Fund or any portion of the regular YMCA income. The expense will be met by the interest being received from the Y-Vodrey Fund established through the sale of the Y-Vodrey lot on Bradshaw Ave.

The Potters Lumber Co. is doing the work.

'Cisco' Wins In Court

CLEVELAND (AP) — Duncan Renaldo of Malibu, Calif., better known to television fans as the Cisco Kid, won a Common Pleas Court victory here Tuesday and handed out autographed pictures to Judge J. J. P. Corrigan and court aides. Judge Corrigan dismissed a $50,000 suit which charged that "Cisco" breached a contract by not attending a publicity conference when he staged a rodeo at the Berea fairground last May.

Put Farm Surpluses To Work, U.S. Told By Ohio Federation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The U.S. must stop talking about farm surpluses and start talking about putting those surpluses to work, the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation was told here Tuesday night.

Murray D. Lincoln, president of Nationwide Insurance of Columbus and former director of the federation, said ways must be found to lower the cost of distribution of farm products.

Lincoln advocated additional cooperatives as a means of controlling distribution costs.

"Farmers are disturbed by the phenomena which push farm prices down, but consumer prices up," he said.

Voting today on legislative proposals and policies concludes the three-day meeting. The group has 22 pages of tentative policies for the coming year. It asks a study of a possible state income tax as a means of relieving personal and real property taxation.

Earlier Gov. Michael V. DiSalle said he felt farmers scored better in the last Legislature than did the Democratic administration. He noted that 83 laws approved by the farm lobby were passed, but that 53 laws opposed by the lobby also were passed.

DiSalle said he was not alarmed by reports of farmer dissatisfaction with the administration's tax program. He said his experience as price administrator during World War II hardened him to comments about money problems.

He added that the state will not take sides when legislation is in the making. The general welfare is more important than any economic segment of the state, he said.

The federation appears ready to urge Ohio to order cities to return 50 per cent of city income taxes paid by non-resident workers to those workers. They cited part-time farmers who are getting little benefit from services for which they help pay.

Five Ohio counties won county program awards at Tuesday's meeting. They are Lucas, Lorain, Auglaize, Belmont and Highland, selected from 86 counties entered.

Distinguished service to agriculture awards went to:

Bryce C. Browning, secretary-treasurer of the Muskingum Watershed Conservancy District; John W. Sims of Clyde, and E. D. Heckathorn of Wyandot County.

The John Bauer family of Guilford and the Robert Jones family of Prospect were honored as the most safety-conscious farm families in Ohio.

Executive Attacks Farm Price Props

CINCINNATI (AP)—A Chicago executive has lashed at farm price supports which, he said, squeeze "the small family farmer they supposedly protect."

Robert C. Liebenow, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, said Tuesday the support programs "enrich large scale producers, absentee investors and others whose chief source of income is not agricultural."

Liebenow said he thinks most wheat farmers are against the marketing voting on their crop, and asserted it can be rigged.

He said: "In fact, the ambiguous and arbitray eligibility standards of this referendum, vulnerable to almost unlimited manipulation."

Liebenow addressed the last session of a rural credit conference of the American Bankers' Assn.

He said that, 25 years and 25 billion dollars of spending have enabled "the truly needy group of our farm population—those small or part-time farmers who comprise over one half of the so-called farm group—to enjoy a better grade of starvation."

Okays Jet Runway

Rep. Wayne Hays Addresses Legion Veterans' Day Dinner

Approximately 150 attended the 40th annual Veterans' Day banquet of Amercan Legion Post 4 Tuesday night in the post home to hear Rep. Wayne L. Hays, 18th Ohio District congressman, tell of a reception which he attended in the Kremlin in Moscow four years ago.

At the affair he talked to Nikita S. Khrushchev, through an interpreter. The Soviet Premier said that Russia would not drop the first bomb and that it would "not trade Moscow for New York," he said.

The Russian leader also said that the Communists would persuade other countries of the world, one by one, to adopt their policies and prevail upon them to end their dealings with capitalistic America, he said.

In regard to West Germany, the speaker said, "The people there are happy and prospering and are rebuilding from the effects of the war."

He went on to say that West Germany has adopted the system of government that we use here today.

"The Autobahn in Germany, he said, is equal to our turnpikes in Ohio and Pennsylvania, "and is crowded with autos made, owned and driven by German people."

In closing, Hays said that "the United States must be firm in the forthcoming world conference and not be frightened by the Communists in the negotiations.

A gift was presented the guest speaker by Carl M. Turk, commander, on behalf of the post.

Hays was accompanied here by his secretary, Don Gosney, who is chairman of the Columbiana County Democratic executive committee.

Music was provided by Ernest Lowe, a past commander, and the Colonials, a barbershop quartet.

Atty. G. William Brokaw, also a past commander, served as toastmaster and introduced Gold Star mothers, other past commanders and guests.

The invocation was given by Dr. D. Finley Wood of the First Methodist Church and C. D. McCullough, a past commander, led the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

Ben Poling was a member of the committee. The women of the auxiliary were in charge of the dinner.

Football Mothers Name Mrs. Hindes

Mrs. Robert Hindes was named president during election of officers held Tuesday night by the Colt Football Mothers at Chester High School. She succeeds Mrs. William Williams.

Others elected were Mrs. Harold Ash, vice president; Mrs. Earl Duke, secretary, and Mrs. Alvin Clutter, treasurer.

Plans were completed for the annual "Father-Son" football banquet Saturday at 6 p. m. at American Legion Post, 121. The Rev. E. D. Gleaton of the First Christian Church will be guest speaker. Awards will be presented eighth grade players.

The group voted to sponsor Junior H-Teen dances at the City Hall auditorium. The first will be Nov. 20. Parents will serve as chaperones.

The next meeting will be Dec. 8.

LISBON — Testimony will continue Thursday at 1 p. m. in Common Pleas Court in a $395 civil action filed by Charles Rohrer of Rohrer Builders Supply at Columbiana against Norris Bashline of Columbiana R. D.

Rohrer claims he sold building materials to Bashline for construction of a home and the defendant owes him for the material.

The jury seated Monday by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard, includes: Fred Culp of Wellsville; Stella Schmid, Carl Graber, Ruth Wilhelm and William J. Hilliard of Salem; Katherine Bunn, Pauline Burton and Esther Detemple of Lisbon; Lenora Hoffman and Betty Snodgrass of Columbiana; Ruth J. Burick of Leetonia, and Donald Dickey of Elkton. Ethel Barnes of Salem is the alternate.

Vote Recounts Set On Nov. 19

Recounts of precncts in Elkrun Township and Salem's First Ward are slated Nov. 19 by the County Election Board as a result of requests filed by a defeated township trustee candidate and a candidate for Salem Council who lost in the Nov. 3 election.

Clifford F. Westover filed for a recount of the three Elkrun precincts, where he apparently was defeated by incumbent Walter Coie, 150-143.

Rudolph M. Linder has filed for a recount of the Salem First Ward returns, in which he lost to Albert Lesch, 591 to 599.

Frank O'Hanlon, board clerk, said the Elkrun recount will start at 7 p. m. and will be followed by the Salem recount about 8.

Meanwhile, Don R. Gosney of Columbiana, county Democratic chairman, became the first candidate to file for the May 3 primary, seeking re - election as 18th Congressional District Democratic state central committeeman.

Patrolman Floyd Heddleston, who made the investigation, said the merchandise — several toy guns and tanks and other items —have been returned to the store. A window had been broken by the boys to enter the store. The hearing is slated Thursday before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin at Lisbon.

Veteran U.S. Mediator Speaks

Management-Labor Issues Outlined

By JOSEPH P. KELLY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Relations today between unions and managers prove this, at least: Managers are showing greater resistance to the demands of labor.

The basic reasons, according to Federal Mediator George Bell, for 18 years a federally paid peacemaker, are:

Increasing competition between producers.

Company attempts to regain some control over working conditions.

A general dislike of inflation.

During the past year alone, George Bell, with headquarters in Columbus, has acted as mutual friend and go-between in about 50 labor - management disputes in Ohio and bordering states.

"This has been one of the busiest years in labor relations, and each case has taken more time to settle than in the past," he said.

The numerous work stoppages around the country are tied up directly with the drop in lush markets, Bell says. "This is a buyer's market. Companies now have to get out and sell, so they are taking a new look at production costs."

Bell, one of about 200 mediators in the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, finds that managers generally try to cut costs by modernizing, which usually means mechanization. But the trouble with progress is that it often puts people out of work.

Bell explains that "unions are not opposed to the principle of progress," but they can't stand by quietly and let their members be thrown out of work. Unions also maintain, said Bell, that mechanization should not lower an individual worker's wages, even if machines make his job easier.

On top of these arguments is the problem of creeping inflation, which unions also use as a weapon against management, Bell said.

How do you bring about peace? Bell's quick answer:

"There is no single solution or simple approach. Each case is different, although they all revolve around economic and working conditions. An approach that works in one case usually will not work in another."

Bell looks at labor relations as a form of human relations. "Keep both sides talking. Use persuasion and logic, and they usually come to some understanding."

Mediator Bell, a man who looks and acts as if he truly detests fights, is a familiar figure to labor and management in the gas and electric companies of Columbus. He has sifted their labor problems for years.

His experience as a printer fitted him well for his mediation work in struggles between Columbus and Cincinnati newspapers and the typographical union.

Before Bell's Washington boss, Joseph F. Finnegan, assigned him to Columbus, Bell worked full-time in Cincinnati. There he negotiated in cases involving the Goodyear Atomic Corp., Portsmouth; the Monsanto Chemical Co., Miamisburg; the Lunkenheimer Co. and the Newport Steel Co., both of the Cincinnati area. However, his work takes him throughout Ohio and to bordering states.

If he uses any single technique to avoid strikes, or to end them quickly, it is to make suggestions. When labor and management can not agree, he looks at the problem from a third angle and suggests a compromise.

Unfortunately, compromises are becoming harder to find, as illustrated by recent prolonged disputes. Bell sees more federal labor legislation in the making, especially for vital industries.

The only way for labor and management to avoid increased federal control is to make collective bargaining work, Bell states.

"Good labor relations don't happen; they are made . . . . There must be more thorough understanding of management problems on the part of unions," Bell believes.

Both sides, he continues, must look for ways to get jobs for workers made jobless by automation. He said that's the underlying problem today—running through the steel and auto industries—and the man who finds the solution will be an international hero.

Board Begins Election Plans For Chamber

A nominating committee to select a slate of candidates for the Board of Trustees was appointed at a meeting of the Chamber's board Tuesday afternoon.

Named to the nominating committee by T. Fred Edwards, president, were Paul Bloor, Robert Boyce, William E. Kaiser, William Christopher, George Shaw, Gordon Starkey and Mike Turk.

Boyce will serve as chairman.

The committee will select 14 candidates from which the membership will elect seven for three-year terms.

A four - man delegation from the board will attend the Ohio Chamber meeting next Tuesday and Wednesday in Columbus. It will include Edwards, Alvin T. Babb, vice president, Bloor, a member of the board, and E. R. Chandler, secretary - manager.

The board also sent a letter to the Salem Chamber joining in a protect against curtailment of bus service between Youngstown, Salem, East Liverpool, Steubenville and Wheeling by the Greyhound Bus Co.

The resolution protesting the curtailment was asked by the Salem organization, which plans to file a protest at a Public Utilities Commission hearing Monday in Columbus on the Greyhound Lines' request to eliminate the morning run, cutting the service in half.

Four new members recommended by the membership committee headed by Shaw were approved. They are Maj. W. F. Hathorn, Salvation Army commander; Miss Frances Jones, librarian at the Carnegie Public Library; Ray Clendenning, operator of Clendenning Florists, and C. Lester Saltsman of Saltsman's Pharmacy in Calcutta.

The board also approved Dec. 1 as the date for the fall membership meeting at the Country Club, which will take the form of an "industry appreciation" program.

Chandler reported on new "welcome" signs erected at the principal entrances to the city, the second annual tri-state science fair scheduled in March and a business leaders' forum which was held Oct. 29 in Youngstown. A report on the rural - urban tour held last month was given.

Couple United In Church Rite

A pale pink waltz length gown was worn by Miss Irene V. Evans of Beaver Falls when she became the bride of Earl N. Palmer of Industry Oct. 31 in the Industry Evangelical United Brethren Church.

The Rev. David Gill officiated at the afternoon ceremony. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Catherine Headley of Beaver Falls and the bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William H. Palmer of Industry.

A recital of nuptial music was presented by the bride's niece, Mrs. Glenn Kimball of Bell Vernon.

The bride's gown featured a full skirt, sweetheart neckline and cap sleeves. She wore a corsage of white roses and a small pink hat featuring a short veil. Her only jewelry was a string of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Howard Ford of Ellwood City, matron of honor, wore a black street length dress featuring a pleated skirt and V-neckline. Her small white hat was trimmed in black and she wore a corsage of white roses.

Frank Conkle of Industry was best man.

A dinner for 50 was given in the Croatian home in Midland. A reception for 200 followed in the evening. The couple is at home in Industry following a brief honeymoon.

Quota Club Hears Data On Projects During Luncheon

Project reports were given at a luncheon meeting of the Quota Club Tuesday afternoon at the Travelers Hotel. Some 24 attended.

Mrs. Mildred McKim, chairman, reported on proceeds from a sale of candy, dish towels and nuts and money received from sales tax stamps. She announced the "easy skid" plates which the group will sell have not arrived but the rummage sale has been set for April.

Miss Phyllis Crook, first vice president, conducted business in the absence of the president, Miss Justine Miller. Mrs. Edna Jones, corresponding secretary, read a letter of thanks from E. R. Chandler, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, for co-operation in the erection of new highway signs showing community activity. She also read a letter in regard to the International Fellowship Fund, to which the group contributes.

Miss Mildred McGregor said there will be no session Saturday at the Speech and Hearing Clinic at Westgate, as the directors will be out of town. Miss Gladys DeBolt reported on the Christmas party and reminded the group that a contribution will be given to the Kent State scholarship fund in lieu of a gift exchange.

An invitation was read to attend the meeting Saturday of the Youngstown Quota Club. A cooking demonstration will be featured at the next meeting Nov. 24 at the Ohio Valley Gas Co., when Miss Miller will present Christmas entertaining ideas.

County Man Sentenced On Probation Violation

Orin C. Barrett, 20, of Fredericktown was sentenced to 1-7 years in the Ohio Reformatory at Mansfield Tuesday by Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp at Lisbon on a charge of violating probation he was granted in connection with charges of auto theft and driving a car without the owner's consent.

Barrett pleaded guilty to violation of probation, which he was granted Nov. 6, 1958. He admitted to the court he had pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated, violating a parole stipulation that he be of good behavior and obey all laws. He was cited by Adult Probation Officer Richard Rose.

Barrett pleaded guilty to the auto theft counts June 16, 1958, in connection with taking a car from East Liverpool and abandoning it near Grimm's Bridge.

Jungle Cave Rats To Be Shown Here

Huge cave rats will be on exhibit on the Diamond Thursday through Saturday under sponsorship of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 66.

Charles Cunningham, a former Marine and owner of rats, will exhibit the rodents in a truck. The rats were captured in the jungle islands of the Pacific during World War II. They weigh from 15 to 18 pounds each and will eat anything, "including each other," he said. Rats will be exhibited in separate cages.

In their native habitat, they live in trees and caves and will attack and eat any other animal. Normally, they will eat twice their own weight in 24 hours. They are fed dog food and corn in captivity. Cunningham has traveled in nearly every state with the exhibit. Donations received from viewers will be used for the VFW post's children's Christmas party.

Court Rules Youth Must Die In Chair

CINCINNATI (AP)—Teen-ager Huston Nelson must die in the state penitentiary electric chair Feb. 29, a three-judge Common Pleas Court ruled Tuesday.

The court also turned down a motion by defense attorney Harry McIlwain for mental tests for Nelson, 17, and overruled a move for a new trial.

McIlwain said he plans to further appeal the youth's conviction on a first-degree murder charge, which came without recommendation of mercy. That automatically calls for the death penalty in Ohio.

Nelson was convicted of shooting Mrs. Bernice Wilson, 61, to death during a holdup at her drugstore.

27 Cases Settled

LISBON — Twenty-seven cases were settled in pre-trial hearings conducted last week in Common Pleas Court. Nine cases were continued and 19 were set for trial, according to Norman Ward, assignment commissioner for the two courts.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: You and your pat answers. It sounds so simple when you reel off those high-sounding phrases but putting them into practice is another story.

I've been married to a cake of ice for 12 years. We have three children. They are here only because my wife's sister-in-law had three and she wasn't going to be outdone.

I've threatened to get affection elsewhere and her reply is, "It would be a relief. Just leave me alone."

She's under 30 years of age, a smart dresser, wonderful housekeeper and 100 per cent all-out mother. Of course I can't discuss this with anyone we know but I need outside help. Tell me what to do about a woman who is frozen.—Z-RO.

-:-

Dear Z-Ro: Many are cold—but few are frozen. This story is an old one. Unfortunately your wife is probably a chip off the old glacier. A woman who tells her husband to find romance elsewhere and leave her alone knows very well she's inviting trouble—and she'd probably collapse if you took her up on it.

You both should have a frank talk with the family doctor. This is "strictly business" to him. Perhaps something in your approach has frozen her up. She owes it to you to discuss this problem with a professional and be a full-time wife.

Favorite Subject

Dear Ann: My stepdaughter married a no-good bum. They both like to drink. As a result they can't hold jobs because they get nasty when they're stiff—which is all the time.

Last month, my husband took $672 out of the bank and gave them a down payment for a car. I raised holy Ned with my husband and he said it was HIS money because he had earned it. I've kept house, cooked, ironed and nursed him in illness for 20 years. Do I have a right to feel that half of what he has belongs to me?—BURNED UP.

Dear Burned Up: You do, indeed. What some men can't get through their heads is this: A wife is a partner in marriage and shares her husband's harness sores even if she doesn't bring home a paycheck.

A wife who lets her husband dole out paltry sums when he feels big-hearted is a fool. As a matter of dignity every woman should have some money to call her own. She should not have to beg. Nor should she be so ignorant about finances that her husband can draw $672 out of the bank without her knowledge.

(Guess I gave you more information than you requested but this is one of my pet subjects!)

Gam Conscious

Dear Ann Landers: Please don't throw this letter away because it's not earth shaking. Your answer could mean a lot to millions of girls my age.

I am 13 — too young for this and too old for that. In other words, I'm a nothing.

How old should a girl be before she wears hose and heels? Mom says I'm too young but some girls in my class have been doing it since they were 12. Whatever you say is law.—SOCKS TO STOCKINGS.

-:-

Dear Socks: High school (about 15) is time enough to change from socks to stockings and from flats to heels. Of course this means special evening occasions, only AND it also means you must behave like a lady if you expect Mom to let you dress like one.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Repository, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Workers Hurt In 2 Accidents

Two men injured while working and three persons hurt in falls were treated Tuesday and early today at City Hospital.

Thomas Sullivan, 40, of 680 Lincoln Ave. was treated at 1:45 a. m. today for flash burns of the eyes suffered while working as a burner at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co.

Floyd Jones, 25, of R. D. 1, a carpenter, injured his left foot when he struck it with a rubber mallet yesterday morning.

Thomas Coleman, 15, stepson of Alfred Young of Chester R. D. 1, sprained his left shoulder when he fell while playing football yesterday afternoon.

Edward Sams, 89, of Mt. Perry, Ohio, fell while walking along Haywood St. yesterday afternoon and received contusions of the forehead and facial abrasions.

Marjorie Kidder, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kidder, 807 Cadmus St., suffered a laceration of the left forehead and contusions of the nose and left eye when she fell down the cellar steps at home last night.

Toronto Due $115,700

TORONTO — The Ohio Water Pollution Control Board in Columbus Tuesday approved the city as recipient of $115,700 in federal funds for construction of a sewage treatment plant. The grant was all the federal money left in Ohio's current appropriation for such plants, the board said.

Man Awarded $150,000 In Damage Suit

CLEVELAND (AP)—A Wooster man whose legs were injured in 1956 while he was working as a crossing watchman has won the largest personal injury damage award in the history of the U.S. District Court here—$150,000.

A jury of seven women and five men deliberated only an hour and 35 minutes before awarding the sum to Clarence A. McKinley, 39, of 1131 East Bowman St., Wooster. He had sued for $250,000.

The Pennsylvania Railroad, which employed McKinley at the Liberty St. crossing in Wooster when he was injured March 21, 1956, will appeal the verdict, Charles Clarke, attorney for the carrier, said.

At the trial it was testified McKinley halted cars while two trains passed the crossing, then waved traffic on. He then heard the whistle of a third train, a freight westbound on an eastbound track. He said a flasher light system in the guard shanty gave him no advance warning. He was too late to halt a truck which was struck by this third train.

A refrigerator hurled from the truck hit McKinley in the legs. He received fractures that confined him to a hospital for 104 days and left him crippled and unable to work, his attorney, Craig Spangenberg, said.

Police System Signed

CINCINNATI (AP)—After several years of experiment, county commissioners signed a three-year contract with the city and 34 smaller communities Tuesday, setting up a county-wide system to unify police activity. The system will alert all police agencies in the county to aid in pursuit of suspects.

Jobless Claims Increase In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Continuing claims for unemployment compensation, still reflecting secondary effects of the steel strike, climbed to 79,530 in the week ended Nov. 7.

In the previous week, the continuing claims of these unemployed one week or more totaled 68,122, the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation reported today.

There was a slight drop in filing of new claims during the week—from 21,706 to 20,969. Continuing claims in the weeks of November last year averaged 86,110, and those of new claims 14,827.

Minor reductions were noted in the number of new and continuing claims for the 13 weeks of extended benefits after regular compensation is exhausted. New claims in this category totaled 837 in the week ended Nov. 7 compared to 954 the previous week, and continuing claims dropped from 8,047 to 7,977.

Long Winter Due Little Girl Without Horse

UMATILLA, Ore. (AP)—It will be a sad, long winter for Susie Hams—without her Captain.

The gentle stallion's broad back and sturdy legs made the world a wonderful place for Susie, 9.

For six months, Captain carried Susie to school and out into the eastern Oregon countryside for days of play with friends—after Susie had struggled up the rails of a fence with her club feet to mount the horse.

But somebody shot and killed Susie's Captain last Sunday. Somebody, according to police, who "just wanted to see what a double-barreled shotgun would do to a horse from 10 feet away."

Now Susie mopes quietly around her farm home, waiting for the day next April when corrective surgery will be performed on her feet at the Shriners' Hospital in Portland, Ore. Sometimes she gazes wistfully out a window at the big pasture where her Captain used to wait.

Susie's mother, Laverne Hams, has offered a $25 reward for information about Captain's death.

"Not for apprehension of the person that did it," Mrs. Hams said, "but purely for the reason why."

Jim Phillip Martin, Chillicothe, Ohio University District—89.

More Ships Dock

CLEVELAND (AP) — Through Tuesday, 544 ocean-going ships docked here, compared to 416 in all of the 1958 season, Miss Albina R. Cermak, Cleveland customs collector, reported. About 50 more foreign-bound vessels are expected through here before the final 1959 export-import cargoes are handled on the local docks in about two weeks.

Shortage Is Coming

Population Boom To Pose Southwest Water Problem

(Spreading suburbs and an influx of new industry have created shortages of water in many parts of the United States. Here's the first of three articles on the national water problem.)

By JOHN R. MORGANTHALER

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — From Texas across 1,200 miles of high plateau and desert to the Pacific, one common question haunts thoughtful leaders in growing Southwestern communities: Where can we get more water?

This fall there is no shortage. But it's coming.

Right now most people don't seem concerned.

Two and a half years of good rains have built New Mexico's ground water supply nearly back to its level before the searing drought of 1950-56. If the rains of recent years continue, Texans don't fear a water shortage in the immediate future. Arizona has had enough water since 1957.

But all across the arid Southwest and West, where average annual rainfall is under 20 inches and in some regions under 10, town planners are worried about water and the politicians and special interests are fighting over it.

The reason: the population boom.

California has 15 million people today. It expects 28 million by 1980.

Texas uses three million acre-feet of water a year for its homes and industries. It expects an urban demand of eight million acre-feet 40 years from now. Texas farmers now use four times as much water as the cities. Will their demands nearly triple too?

In New Mexico, Arizona and Nevada the problem is less pressing, because those states are not yet swarming with people. But water is the key to their growth, and their turn will come.

In California, the water issue has dominated state politics for years. Last spring a bare majority of the Legislature finally agreed on a water plan, and put it up to the people. November 1960 is the time of decision.

The people will vote on the plan to issue 1¾ billion dollars in state bonds to finance the Feather River project, first unit of the California water plan.

A year before election, the outcome is not at all certain. There is strong opposition, and a threatened fight over the proposal's omission of guarantees against "unjust enrichment" of corporation farms and private utilities.

The Feather River project is just the first unit of the California water plan—a bold 11-billion-dollar scheme involving 260 major dams to be built over the next 100 years.

The engineers who designed it say there is enough water in the state to support 40 million people, if properly stored and distributed.

Texas hasn't yet agreed on a master plan. Its Board of Water Engineers is working on one with a 1963 deadline. It's already behind schedule. The Legislature cut its budget by $800,000 for 1960-61. A federal commission is hoping to complete a master plan for Texas by July, 1961. This fall Texas reservoirs are 90 per cent full—a mark they have held since the worst drought in Texas history started to break three years ago. The state has 38 reservoirs under construction or in the talking stage.

Officials complain of public apathy toward water development in wet years. They warn that future droughts are possible, and that the state isn't equipped to counter them.

Valuable Biological Discovery Is Claimed

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — Marine biologists believe a tiny, shrimp-like creature they call Tigriopus may come to rival white rats in usefulness for scientific research.

They have already found, by selective breeding, that Tigriopus can be made to produce 100 per cent all male or all female offspring.

The creature, no larger than the head of a pin, has been found to have the necessary adaptibility to change for experimental purposes — something lacking in other form of marine life.

Thus far the research on Tigriopus has been largely confined at The University of California's Scripps Institution of Oceanography to reproduction in the laboratory and a study of its distribution and life history. It is found in tidal pools around most of the world's oceans.

Violence Has Become Etched Into Life Of A City Resident

NEW YORK, N. Y.

The violence is etched into the city resident's life, whether he likes it or not.

Some sociologists express concern over that they see as growing, senseless violence in the acts of juvenile delinquents today. They ponder the cause.

Do you remember your own childhood? Did you live it in the kind of atmosphere provided by 1959?

This is what one adult New Yorker, living in comparative quiet residential surroundings saw and heard on an "average" day recently:

While shaving, the office worker heard the radio news announcer recite details of the previous night's robberies, assaults and a shotgun murder.

AT THE SUBWAY station, he picked up the morning papers and read in gaudy prose about an assault on a white woman by a Negro; a juvenile who planned to bomb his school and an interior decorator who walloped the daylights out of the blonde heiress he calls his wife.

He glanced at a photograph of an auto smash victim's death throes; a cheesecake shot of a prostitute nabbed in a vice squad raid and a picture of another dying traffic victim.

He read about the slaughterhouse scene of a train wreck, and the release of a noted thug.

As he left the subway, he stopped beside a newsstand, saw last month's murders expanded in pulp crime magazines.

Near Times Square, on his way to the office, he walked past dirt-streaked show windows loaded shivs, spring blades, German daggers, hunting knives, war surplus bayonets, pistol holders and brass knuckles—all "on sale," no permit required.

As he approached the office building, a police car, siren howling, threaded its way through cross-town traffic. A cab driver loosed abuse at an out-of-town driver ahead of him.

On his way home, he picked up the afternoon papers. As an elbow rammed him in the subway, he heard an entertainer's excuse or a rock 'n' roll riot in Kansas; saw that a policeman's daughter had been assaulted and beaten unconscious and that a pair of thugs had been sentenced for felling a cop and stamping on his face.

THERE WERE REPORTS of a suspected suicide; a prediction that New York would soon become a "snakepit" unless juvenile delinquency was restrained; a story describing how two undercover detectives had been able to purchase unlicensed revolvers.

On television he was offered seven bullet-riddled westerns, nine crime serials and four late movies, three of them featuring cops, robbers and machineguns, the fourth a war picture.

As he dropped off to sleep, he wondered if it had always been this way or whether his kids lived in a kind of world he, as a child, had never known.

How Can I

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I improvise a fancy-looking sealing wax for use on the envelopes of my letters?

A. For an attractive effect, a dab of thick red fingernail polish makes a fine substitute sealing wax. It doesn't need warming in a flame, is quite flexible when it dries, and it sticks just as well as wax.

Q. How can I save time when mashing potatoes, and also make them lighter?

A. By putting the potatoes through the ricer before mashing them.

Q. How can I remove grease spots from suede shoes?

A. These will usually yield to vinegar, applied with an old toothbrush.

Ethiopian Converts

NEW YORK (AP) — The Ethiopian Orthodox church has gained more than 100,000 converts in the last three years, Archbishop Abuna Theophilos reported on a visit here to a World Council of Churches meeting. The church has nearly 11 million members, including Ethiopia's emperor.

Vol Is Named Top Lineman

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Tennessee upset the then top-ranked Tigers of Louisiana State last Saturday and very much in the thick of things for the Vols was Joe Schaffer, a "tough lineman who gets the job done."

For his part, Schaffer, a 210-pounder who is captain of the Tennessee team, today was named the lineman of the week in the Associated Press poll.

Schaffer, who hails from Cincinnati, plays tackle offensively and shifts to guard on the defense. Louisiana State gained very little up the middle when the Tigers tried to advance through his territory. Schaffer forced them to go to the outside.

"There's nothing spectacular about Schaffer," declared Tennessee Coach Bowden Wyatt. "The movies showed he played a Orange beat Penn State, was high fine game. He's been a wonderful leader. He's a real tough lineman and he gets the job done."

Roger Davis, Syracuse guard who played a bangup game as the Orange beat Penn State, was high up in the voting by sports writers and broadcasters.

Gerry Smith, Michigan linebacker, drew praise for his fine defensive work as the Wolverines upset Illinois.

Harry Baldwin, UCLA's junior center, led the UCLA defense against Stanford and for his work earned the nod as the Big Five's lineman of the week.

'Back Of Week' Is Colorado Star

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — "I'm tickled . . . . really thrilled. . . . and very proud."

Colorado quarterback Gale Weidner modestly mumbled these words today when he found out he'd been named football "back of the week" by The Associated Press for his passing performance last Saturday against Kansas.

"I'm greatly honored," said Weidner, 182 - pound sophomore with the passing poise of a pro. "Give credit to my teammates, though. They were the ones who made the honor possible."

Weidner had quite a day for himself against the Jayhawks, who entered the game a 10-point favorite. The aerial ace from Troy, Mont., completed 10 of 17 passes for 126 yards and three touchdowns that gave the Buffs a 27-14 triumph. He ranks fifth among major college players in total offense and ninth in passing.

Kansas Coach Jack Mitchell described Weidner as "by far the best passer we've faced this season."

Veeck Awaits Trading Time With Enthusiasm

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—Baseball fans who get kicks from seeing trades made are in for a lot of fun within the next month.

That's the opinion of Chicago White Sox president Bill Veech whose eyes light up when he talks about inter-league trading which runs from Nov. 21 through Dec. 15.

"Everybody is shopping and everybody is ready to deal," Veech told The Associated Press.

"When you trade within your own league you know who wants what and what they are willing to give," said Veeck. "But this inter - league trading opens up numerous possibilities. Oh, its going to be a lot of fun."

Veeck said he would trade anyone from his American League champion White Sox if the offer were right. However, he explained that nobody would offer enough for certain stars such as pitcher Early Wynn, shortstop Luis Aparicio and second baseman Nelson Fox.

"We'll trade," said Veeck. "Make no mistake about that. And we're going to get a power hitter. I don't know who it will be or where he'll come from but we'll get one."

Veeck said only last Frday he talked with officials of nearly a dozen teams including Philadelphia, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, San Francisco and Milwaukee.

Syracuse Players Favor Playing In Orange Bowl

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Orange Bowl officials called a special meeting today to review talent prospects for their New Year's Day football extravaganza.

University of Syracuse could have had a bid by now. But its trustees, meeting two hours, postponed a decision Tuesday. Spokesmen said first they wouldn't meet again until Sunday, then indicated they would confer within a couple of days.

"I don't think our committee would wait until Sunday," said Van C. Kussrow, chairman of the group which lines up opponents for the annual Orange Bowl game.

Kussrow already had told Syracuse it could have an Orange Bowl invitation by quick acceptance.

Syracuse, never a winner in two Orange Bowl appearances, currently is No. 1 in the Associated Press Poll. Its players voted in favor of the Miami date but Syracuse officials said this would not be a vital point in their decision.

"There are plenty of directions in which we can turn for a team to meet the Big Eight's host eleven," Kussrow said. "We had figured quick acceptance by Syracuse would have paid a publicity dividend."

Kussrow said Georgia Tech, Georgia, Tennessee and several other teams he wouldn't name were live prospects for a bid to the 1960 Orange Bowl game.

The Big Eight's representative can't be designated yet.

Springfield Ready To Nab Hockey Lead

By The Associated Press

The Springfield Indians, beaten only once in their last eight games, look about ready to take the American Hockey League lead.

A 7-3 whipping of the Quebec Aces moved the Indians to within one point of league-leading Providence Tuesday night—thanks to an assist from the Hershey Bears. The Bears went to Providence and knocked off the Reds 3-2 on Les Duff's goal with 10 minutes to play.

Floyd Smith and Billy McCreary each scored two goals for streaking Springfield.

Syracuse, LSU Picked To Win

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NANDI, Fiji Islands (AP)—This is the romantic island where the cop on the corner wears a skirt and his wife wears a dress. The confusion is terrific. So how can we be certain of picking the correct winners in the college football dress parade?

Syracuse over Colgate: With hardly a deep breath.

Northwestern over Michigan State: Ron Burton gets the Evanston Wildcats back on the winning side.

Louisiana State over Mississippi State: Billy Cannon and his LSU playmates are snarlin' ater that loss to Tennessee.

Washington over California: That Washington defense and George Fleming's kicking may carry the Huskies into the Rose Bowl.

Texas over Texas Christian: Anohter step to the Cotton Bowl.

Oklahoma over Army: The Sooners need this victory to salvage what has become for them a dreary season.

Elsewhere:

Georgia Tech over Alabama, Wisconsin over Illinois, Notre Dame over Pittsburgh, Mississippi over Tennessee, Ohio State over Iowa, North Texas State over Tulsa, Southern Methodist over Arkansas, Auburn over Georgia, Air Force over Arizona.

Delaware over Bowling Green, Kentucky over Xavier, Cincinnati over Marquette, Indiana over Michigan, Purdue over Minnesota.

Bob Carpenter Seeks Team In Football Loop

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bob Carpenter, owner of the Philadelphia Phillies, reportedly would like to own one of the eight teams in the American Football League — under certain conditions.

Those conditions are: A certainty that the league won't fold and assurances that initial financial reverses won't scare off other club owners.

Carpenter, however, has made no decision whether to bring a franchise to Philadelphia and thus be the owner of professional baseball and football teams in one of the nation's largest cities.

A source close to Carpenter said Tuesday that the operational costs of an AFL franchise would be between $900,000 and $1,200,000 annually.

The AFL expects to have its first season next year and already has granted the seven other franchises to New York, Los Angeles, Dallas, Minneapolis - St. Paul, Houston, Denver and Buffalo.

Harry Wismer, president of the New York franchise, said Tuesday that the league's final franchise would go to Philadelphia or Boston within the next 10 days.

St. 'A' Honors Football Team

Plans to honor the football team at a dinner Dec. 6 were discussed at a meeting of the St. 'A' Boosters Club Monday at St. Aloysius School.

A membership campaign was launched with membership cards $1 each.

Ernie Bell, John Yanni and Len Walker were introduced as new football assistants by Tom Cook, head coach.

It was announced that basketball uniforms were ordered. The basketball program will include boys in grades 5-8.

Football players were guests at the meeting and movies of the East Liverpool-Youngstown South game were screened.

A surprise birthday party for Cook followed the meeting.

Woody Hayes To Speak At Grid Banquet Dec. 7

The controversial Woody Hayes, head football coach at Ohio State University, will be the guest speaker at the annual banquet honoring the East Liverpool High School football team on Dec. 7.

The place for the banquet has not been determined as yet but will be announced later. The event is being sponsored by the Blue and White Nonpareil Club.

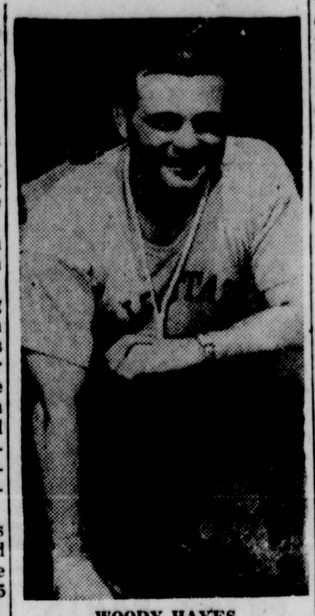

One of the topnotch coaches in the country, Hayes is in his ninth year at Ohio State.

In his nine years of coaching at the Big Ten school, he has a long list of achievements. He was the "College Coach of the Year in 1957" and runnerup for the honor in 1954; won three Big Ten championships, won two national championships and showed 17 consecutive Big Ten victories (1954-1956) for a new conference record.

In two Rose Bowl appearances Ohio State won both games and Hayes was the head coach of the victorious East team in the 1955 Shrine game.

Hayes who is 46, started his coaching career at New Philadelphia before moving up into the college ranks at Denison University, Miami then Ohio State.

His current Buckeye team shows a 3-3-1 record so far this season.

Wentz, OSU Back, May Miss Iowa Game

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bill Wentz, Ohio State's senior right halfback, probably won't see action in Saturday's game here with Iowa, says trainer Ernie Biggs.

Wentz was on the sidelines Tuesday with a sprained ankle as his teammates ran through their regular drill.

The Los Angeles Dodgers paced the National League in stolen bases in 1959 with 85. San Francisco was next with 77.

FIELD AND STREAM

By R. L. LIDE

Hunters are cautioned to be sure they are on land that can be legally hunted if they are in search of bobwhite quail. The season will open Monday, Nov. 16.

Quail can be hunted legally only on acres of land owned by the state, under lease to the state, licensed shooting preserves and such other lands as are controlled under formal easements, licenses on agreements with the Department of Natural Resources.

In this classification are approximately 500,000 acres of state wildlife, parks and forest lands and 141,821 acres of pooled farm land in 39 counties. This latter acreage is controlled under an agreement with the Ohio Wildlife Council.

No owners or other occupants of private property may hunt quail on their lands unless they are part of a unit approved by the state.

Even after the land is under contract, permission to hunt must be obtained from the owners or the agent representing them.

—:—

RABBITS, Hungarian partridges and pheasants may also be hunted beginning Monday. But in these cases there is no limit as to area. Public huntng areas in Columbiana County are Highlandtown, Zepernick's, Yellow Creek and Beaver Creek Park.

There are some quail on the Highlandtown and Zepernick areas. I am not sure about the Yellow Creek and Beaver Creek Park areas. The last two primarily are undeveloped lands with no farming and nothing visible to support man quail, if any.

We have the acreage, but not entirely suitable for quail. Three things are involved in quail management on undeveloped lands, land reclamation, manpower and justification of the costs to produce quail. Acreage is one thing and environment is another.

—:—

RACCOON, skunks, o'possum, rabbits, squirrels and even beavers sometimes choose the city limits as permanent living quarters. This is particularly true of the city of Salem.

I had a call from Ed Herron of Salem that there was a dead beaver, killed on the highway on Route 62 within the city limits.

The next call came from Mrs. William Lowry of Southeast Blvd. She said an albino 'coon was a frequent visitor to her garbage can. At first she thought it was a 'possum until she noted the animal had a bushy tail.

I would like to seem some 'coon hunter take this albino alive. It is evidently living within the city limits of Salem so it would be illegal to shoot it.

Rabbits sometime become a nuisance within the city limits. It would be a good thing if they were live-trapped and removed to the rural areas. This would have to be done under the supervison of the game protector after the regular season closed.

'The Stilt' Takes Bumps But Continues To Score

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Warriors say other National Basketball Assn. clubs are hitting their rookie star, Wilt Chamberlain, with everything but the water bucket. And they want him to fight back.

In the Warriors' dressing room Tuesday night after Chamberlain had scored 39 points and made 43 rebounds — a new club record — to lead Philadelphia to a 126-125 victory over New York, teammate Guy Rodgers remarked:

"Sure every team we play is hitting Wilt with everything but the water bucket. Tell you what I hope he does. Shove back hard once. Shove back hard again. The third time, he ought to knock the guy into the balcony. That will teach 'em."

Coach Neil Johnston agreed with Rodgers.

"The officials are letting them get away with murder against Wilt," Johnston said.

But the easy-going Chamberlain refuses to be spurred into violence.

"Everybody says to knock the other guy off the court," Chamberlain declared. "That's not my way. I just want to play my normal game. I don't want trouble. But if it keeps up like this, I guess I'll have to punch somebody in the mouth."

Meanwhile Boston, the Eastern division leader, and St. Louis, the Western division leader, both emerged with victories in the only other league games.

Sophomore Elgin Baylor tossed in 37 points for Minneapolis but the Lakers were outclassed in a 134-105 loss to St. Louis. Led by Cliff Hagan's 35 points, the Hawks ran up a 25-point lead midway in the second quarter and Minneapolis never did recover.

Veteran Bob Cousy hoisted Boston to a 128-109 victory over Detroit with his steady playmaking and 26 points while teammate Bill Russell contributed 24 points. Gene Shue pumped in 28 points for Detroit.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

Temperatures will average 5 to 8 degrees below normal. Normal high 49 north to 51 south, normal low 33-34. Colder Thursday, continued cool through Monday. Precipitation will average one-half to three-quarters inch in rain south and rain or snow north Friday or Saturday.

Harvey Kuenn of the Detroit Tigers led the American League in hitting in 1959 with .353, in hits with 198 and in doubles with 42.

D'Amato Hearing Over, Rosensohn Due On Thursday

NEW YORK (AP) — Manager Cus d'Amato's hearing is over and promoter Bill Rosensohn's opens Thursday before the New York State Athletic Commission. No immediate decision is expected in the case of the manager of former heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson.

Julius November, D'Amato's attorney, Tuesday asked the commission to toss out four of the five charges against his client, who was suspended Sept. 24. He admitted one "minor" violation, not filing a manager's report within five days after the June 26 heavyweight title fight between Ingemar Johansson and Patterson.

North Carolina and Michigan State will meet for the first time in football in 1962. They will meet at East Lansing, Mich.

9 Nations Are Represented

Even Dozen Set To Start In $100,000 Laurel Race

By GEORGE BOWEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—The snap of an elastic rope at the yell "come on" by starter Eddie Blind will release a dozen straining horses this afternoon for a mile and half run in the bggest representative Washington D.C. International so far.

The nine nations with rooting interest in the $100,000 spectacle are two more than in any of the past seven internationals.

The flags of the United States, The U.S.S.R., England, Peru, Australia, New Zealand, Mexico, France and Venezuela will be flying in the infield against a solid backdrop of gold and green leaves.

A home - owned entry, Tudor Era, is again being touted as the probable favorite at early odds o 2-1. The bettors put most of their money on U. S. entries five times previously and lost it. Foreign favorites in two other internationals also failed.

Tudor Era, owned by Mrs. Herbert Herff of Memphis, Tenn., who bought the English - bred speeder three years ago for $15,000, is drawing his heavy support mostly on the basis of having finished first in last year's International fuss.

Tudor Era was disqualified, and placed second, and the $70,000 first prize was awarded to the Australian, Sailor's Guide. Trainer Arnold Winick says Tudor Era will "mend matters" this time.

Slight excuses are being made only or England's Aggressor and France's Mi Carina.

Aggressor does best on a soft turf. But the brand new Oaurel course, expanded from seven-eighths to a full mile, is firm and the weather forecast is for fair with temperatures in the low 60s.

Travelers with Mi Carina say the 3-year-old filly did not ship as well as countrymate Midnight Sun. The Laurel probable odds selector has made Midnight Sun, a 3-year-old colt, his second choice at 3-1.

The other U.S. starter is Cain Hoy Stable's Bald Eagle.

The Soviet pair of Garnir and Flang is the biggest question mark. Garnir, who finished sixth last year, has improved impressively in appearance and will start from the inside post position. Flang provokes thought with five straight victories behind the Iron Curtain.

"We have as good a chance to win as anybody else," says Yevgeni Dolomotov, leader of the Soviet delegation.

Similar sentiments exist in the camps of New Zealand's Up and Coming, Venezuela's Pensilvania, Peru's Lightning, Australia's Vogel and Mexico's Lea-B.

Game Season Set In W.Va.

CHARLESTON (AP) — It's legal to hunt cottontail rabbit and quail in West Virginia, starting today.

The seasons will extend through Jan. 2, along with those on squirrels, ruffed grouse and wild turkey.

Also opening today were the hunting and trapping seasons on raccoon, opossum and skunks. They likewise will run through Jan. 2.

The bag limits on rabbits are four a day and 24 for the season. For quail it is seven a day and 35 for the season.

The bag limit on raccoons is unrestricted in the Eastern Panhandle counties of Berkley, Grant, Hampshire, Hardy, Jefferson, Mineral, Morgan and Pendleton. Elsewhere the hunters are allowed four raccoons for one person or group of persons in a party during any 24-hour period beginning at noon.

The state's hunting season on geese and brant, went into effect yesterday. It will end Jan. 8. Hunters are prohibited from shooting snow geese, however.

The bag limit on geese is two per day and possession limit four. The limits on brant are six and six.

Brown Leads NFL Scoring

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Fullback Jimmy Brown of Cleveland, who has led the National Football League in rushing all season, now has taken over first place in scoring.

The bulldozing Brown, who has been a one-man show for the Browns, scored two touchdowns Sunday against Philadelphia to bring his season's total to 10 for 60 points.

He is trailed by Tom Davis, San Francisco, 55 points; Bobby Joe Conrad, Chicago Cardinals, 53; and Bobby Layne, Pittsburgh, 51.

Meanwhile, Brown has gained 862 yards on the ground in 183 carries for a 4.7 average. Second in rushing is J. D. Smith of San Francisco, who shows 696 yards in 139 carries for a 5.0 average. Ollie Matson of Los Angeles is third with 687 yards in 116 tries for a 5.9 average.

Quarterback Ralph Guglielmi of Washington, who has been sidelined the past two weeks with injuries, backed into the passing lead as last week's leader, Billy Wade of Los Angeles, failed to maintain his average gain. Average gain determines the leaders in passing.

Guglielmi has completed 26 of 60 pass attempts for 515 yards and an 8.58 average. Wade, has 85 completions in 137 attempts for 1,133 yards and an 8.27 average.

Ray Barry, Baltimore, caught only four passes Sunday against Washington but his 44 catches for the year gives him a wide edge in the receiving department. He has gained 643 yards, more than a third of his team's total.

Behind Barry are Billy Wilson, San Francisco, 31—412; and Frank Gifford, New York, 28—531.

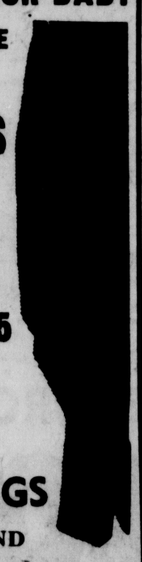

New York's Don Chandler continues to be tops in punting with a 47.7 average. Second is Tom Davis of San Francisco with a 45.6 average.

Mason At Chester Gets 50-Year Pin

Chester Masonic Lodge 142 will continue its 50th anniversary observance tonight with a banquet and special program, with over 150 expected to attend.

The observance opened Tuesday night with a program which included presentation of a 50-year pin to one of the two living charter members and exemplification of the Master Mason degree on one candidate. Over 100 attended.

Pictured left to right at Tuesday night's presentation are Harold Jividen, master, George Whaley, past district deputy grand master presenting a 50-year pin to Fred E. Dunn of Chester while his brother, Clyde O. Dunn of Miami, Fla., looks on.

The Dunn brothers are the only two living charter members of the lodge. Clyde Dunn was flown from Florida for the 50th anniversary observance. He is the oldest living charter member.

Masonic dignitaries from surrounding communities are expected at the banquet tonight at 6:30, when open house will be held for members and wives. Dinner will be served by the Eastern Star.

William R. Loper of Wheeling, past grand master, will screen pictures of his travels. Songs will be presented by the Chanters of Osiris Temple of Wheeling.

George Whaley of Newell will be toastmaster. The Dunn brothers will be special guests tonight. Everett R. Chandler is committee chairman.

Motorist Cited In City Mishap

A district motorist is being held at the city jail today in connection with a Dresden Ave. traffic mishap in which his auto hit a parked car and utility pole—one of two accidents reported Tuesday night by police.

John McCullough, 39, of R. D. 1 was taken into custody after his car struck a parked sedan and a utility pole along Dresden Ave. near the Paramount Service Station about 10:53.

The entire left side of the parked 1946 sedan owned by Frank McKenzie, 27, of 1069 Dresden Ave. was damaged, as was the left front door of McCullough's 1950 sedan, which was traveling east, officers said.

In a collision at E. 5th and Walnut Sts. at 6:47, a station wagon of a Midland man was damaged when struck by a Wellsville man's auto.

Steve Komara, 39, of 632 Penn Ave., Midland, said he was headed south and was struck by a car driven by Oliver McAdoo, 705 Broadway, Wellsville, who was driving west. McAdoo said he had the green light when his car hit the station wagon in the left rear.

Demonstration Given For Beauty Operators

Hair styling was demonstrated at a meeting of National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Unit 15 Tuesday night at Tice's Restaurant.

The "American Caprice" and "Cat-Line" styles were shown by Clyde Silverthorn, Mrs. Rose Dicello, Mrs. Dorothy Putnam and Clarence Gilbert, members of the unit styles body. Models were Miss Carolyn Allen, Miss Ethel McCain, Miss Evelyn Messenger and Miss Betty Masters.

Business was in charge of the president, Gilbert. Mrs. Mary Bayer, chairman, reported on National Beauty Salon Week scheduled for February.

Members of the Steubenville association were guests.

Election of officers will be held Dec. 8 at the restaurant.

2 Boxcars On Siding Damaged In City Blaze

Two Pennsylvania Railroad boxcars on a siding near Patterson Field were damaged, one very heavily, in a fire Tuesday afternoon at 5:45.

City firemen said the blaze completely gutted the interior of one and scorched the outside of the other.

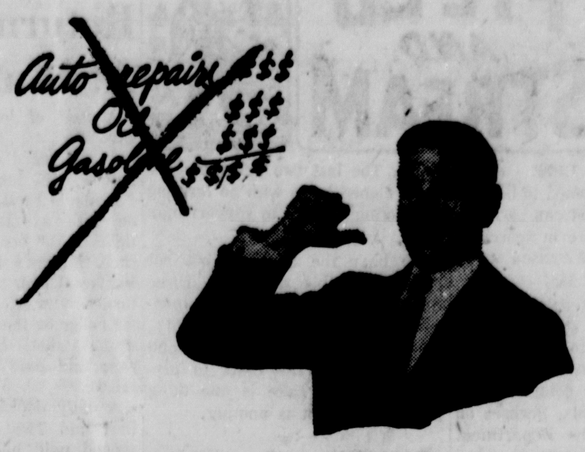

Firemen laid 1,100 feet of 2½-inch line from W. 4th St. Ext. to battle the blaze. The cause has not been determined.

Firemen also were called to the Patton Apartments, 201 W. 3rd St., late yesterday afternoon when a water line burst on the second floor. The water ran down through the partitions to the first floor and cellar, wetting electrical outlets.

Firemen turned off the power to prevent a short circuit until the pipe was repaired. The power was turned on again at 7:40 p. m.

Weight Plan Tried In Pregnancy

It is very appealing to overweight young mothers to be able to reduce during their period of pregnancy. By restricting their weight gains to an absolute minimum, overweight women are able to finish their pregnancy 20 to 25 pounds less than when they began.

Ida Jean Kain

"I must tell my story because I'm proud of myself, and my experience may be a morale booster to dieters who are pregnant," writes a happy young mother.

"When I was pregnant with my first baby, I gained 45 pounds. It was a difficult birth due to tremendous gain. Except for the 20-pound loss when the baby was born, I kept the extra weight. At the time of conception for my second pregnancy, I weighed 160 pounds. This was 25 pounds overweight for my height and bone structure.

—:—

"THE DOCTOR explained that the needs of the baby are met first and that the mother must replenish her nutrition needs. Therefore I made up my mind to restrict my diet to my essential needs, but not to gain a single pound. If I went one pound over the 160, I cut down until that pound was gone.

"My diet was as follows: I ate my usual breakfast: citrus fruit juice, an egg, a slice of toast and coffee. My dinners consisted of lean meat, green or yellow vegetable, a salad, one starch only, and a glass of skim milk. No dessert.

"It was my lunch which I changed completely. Every day for 9 months I had ½ pound of cottage cheese topped with fruit, either a fresh sliced pear or peach, or fruit canned without sugar. Later in the afternoon I had a glass of skim milk.

"This diet was supplemented by a multiple vitamin capsule and calcium tablet recommended by my doctor.

"Everything went along perfectly and I held my weight gains to zero for the first 7 months. However, still eating the same, I gained 7 pounds during the last two months. When I went to the hospital I weighed in at 167 pounds."

"The baby was a healthy 9 pound, 7 oz. boy. Two weeks after the baby's birth I weighed 140 pounds.

—:—

BESIDES HAVING the easiest birth anyone could have, and a fine healthy baby, I dropped from size 18 to a perfect size 14. Who could ask for anything more?"

Congratulations! You have every right to feel triumphant.

Note to expectant mothers: This young woman was apparently in an excellent state of nutrition at the time of conception, which increased her chances of having a healthy baby.

Secondly, her diet during the pregnancy period furnished sufficient protein as well as the other protective essentials to cover the increased requirements during this period. Talk with your own doctor about restricting your gains to a minimum during pregnancy.

NYBORG, Denmark (AP) — Lutherans in Japan, now divided into 11 separate denominations, are expected to consumate a union within two years bringing them all into one church, a Lutheran World Federation official reports.

Productive Workers Take Most Chances

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The most productive workers on a factory assembly line also take the most chances with their safety, an Ohio State University professor says.

After a 23-day study at a Columbus plant, during which he observed workers from a catwalk overhead, Dr. Thomas H. Rockwell concluded that a certain amount of risk may be necessary for maximum productivity.

Rockwell said the top 35 per cent of the workers accounted for 60 per cent of the firm's assembly line first aid cases, where unsafe behavior was the cause.

Violations he mentioned include failure to use goggles when necessary, running, tools underfoot and working beneath suspended loads.

Requests For Soil Bank Plan Outstrip Available U.S. Funds

BEAVER — Farmers over the nation have applied to place almost twice as much land in the 1960 conservation reserve of the "soil bank" as can be accepted with the funds available, according to a preliminary national report received at the Beaver County agricultural stabilization and conservation office.

The initial figures indicate that nearly 103,000 applications have been filed to place a total of 9.6 million acres in the reserve. While present indications are that somewhat more than the original national goal of 5,100,000 acres can be placed under contract, it will not be possible to accept all of the acreage offered, the report said.

This means, according to Earl Groff, chairman of the Pennsylvania state committee, that the "best buy" priority system previously announced will be used in states and counties to determine which applicants can be offered contracts. The general order of acceptance will be on the basis of offers at the lowest per centage of the basic per-acre rate established for the farm.

The Department of Agriculture also announced that a total of approximately 22.4 million acres has been placed in the conservation reserve under the 1956-59 programs. Approximately 14.7 million acres of this is in whole-farm contracts, under which all the cropland on the farm is retired from production.

Texas leads all states in the amount of acreage placed in the reserve in the past 4 years, with a total of 3.2 million acres. Other leading states in order are North Dakota, Minnesota, South Dakota, Oklahoma, Colorado, and Kansas. North Dakota leads in the amount of new acreage offered for 1960, with 1.3 million acres.

The conservation reserve of the "soil bank" is a voluntary production adustment program under which farmers sign contracts to withdraw cropland from production for a period of years and devote the land to grass or trees or to water or wild - life conservation.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

Firing Of Van Doren Seen Morally Right

In firing Charles Van Doren, the National Broadcasting Co. showed conspicuous courage and I think a high degree of moral principle. For this it is being castigated around the country for cowardice, for hypocrisy, for panic.

John Crosby

Firing Van Doren was the opposite of all those things. In the first place, the mail count was running 9.1 in favor of Van Doren. The netowrk knew there would be outrage. The popular decision would be to keep him, issuing some sort of mealy-mouthed "he already has suffered enough" statement.

The decision was to be right, rather than to be popular, and I applaud the network for not yielding to popular sentimentality.

-:-

CHARLES VAN DOREN is an appealing, curly-haired scion of a distinguished family. He is also a perjuror of deepest hue. He conspired to commit perjury and clung to his perjury until smoked out by overwhelming evidence to the contrary.

I feel sorry for Charles Van Doren but I do not think exceptions should be made in our system of jurisprudence because a man has an audience of millions. The very basis of his being hired by NBC was proved to be false; he compounded the felony by repeating falsehoods over NBC; he broke the law.

We already have established the precedent that murder can be committed among members of the jet set without anyone's even being indicted for it. I strongly object to extending this legal immunity to quiz winners, no matter how good-lookng, no matter how high their rating.

-:-

THIS IS THE Dreyfus case in reverse — which is quite a commentary on the American people. In the old country, old hatreds run deep. Here life is a constant popularity contest. Who's in? Who's out? One is never hated here; one is popular or unpopular, at the prom, at the polls, on the air.

And when Rep. Springer declared that he hoped Columbia University wouldn't take action on Van Doren until popular sentiment could be tested, he uttered one of the most thoroughly immoral and yet unquestionably American statements I've ever heard.

The Supreme Court follows the election returns, said Finley Peter Dunne. There is no right or wrong — it's how well you're liked. The attitude at NBC is that there can be no double standard of justice — one for the rich in popularity, another for the poor—and for that they're being denounced by editorial writers and drowned in mail.

-:-

THIS IS UNJUST but it is also rich in irony.

I can't honestly say that it was television that invented the popularity contest as the only criterion of behavior but, goodness knows, no other field of endeavor is so rigidly ruled by it.

I can't think of any line of work where excellence counts for so little, where right and wrong are entirely a matter of numbers on the rating lists.

If it does nothing else, this whole mess should deal a heavy, perhaps mortal blow to the worship of ratings. There must be some other standard of right or wrong than those.

NBC President Robert Kintner's suggestion that quiz-rigging be a federal offense simply sidesteps the real issue, which is that these big money quizzes never should have been allowed to wreck the program structure in the first place.

THE ONLY complaint — and it's not a complaint, really — I can voice about "Another Evening with Fred Astrire" is that it was awfully like the first evening with Fred Astaire" is that it was awthat's about as high a compliment as I can pay.

It was a judicious and meticulously presented display of Mr. Astair's million-dollar personality and million-dollar legs and Miss Chase's million-dollar chassis and the multi-million-dollar songs of America's greatest composers — George Gershwin, Irving Berlin, Jerome Kern, Harold Arlen, Arthur Schwargz—and that's quite a bundle.

The arrangement, the tone, the finish — Mr. Astaire rattling off a dozen or so wonderful songs he's introduced — were all like the first show. I didn't particularly care for a bit of nonsense between Mr. Astaire and Jonah Jones over some stools, but otherwise it was a great though slavish imitation oft·he first show.

Program For Club Airs Tuberculosis

A health program on tuberculosis was presented by Mrs. Edwin Carson when the Newell Women's Club met Monday night in the Home of American Legion Post 114. Forty attended.

The program included a movie, "Within Man's Reach." Miss Betty Buben, finance chairman, reported Christmas candles are being sold, along with Christmas ribbons. Residents who have not received orders should contact Mrs. Virgil Grimm, she said.

Mrs. George Cawthon, president, appointed two committees to work with the City Federation of East Liverpool. Mrs. George Gogol and Mrs. Carson were named to a social committee and Mrs. Leonard Copestick and Mrs. Harry Springer were appointed to a senior citizens committee.

Members who will work on a projects committee will be appointed later, the president reported.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Florence Laneve. Hostesses included Mrs. Copestick, Mrs. V. E. McEldowney and Mrs. Ronald Eckleberry.

The next meeting will be Nov. 23, when a program on "Quick Tricks for Christmas" will be presented by Miss Helen Petrakis, Hancock County 4-H agent. Hostesses will include Mrs. Copestick, Mrs. Grimm, Miss Buben and Mrs. Floyd Kell. Mrs. Floyd Woods will lead devotions.

Hancock Cattle Found Free Of Bangs Disease

West Virginia health officials have tested and found all cattle in Hancock County free of brucellosis, (Bangs disease), according to Oliver Johnson, county agricultural agent.

Tests were made by T. C. Green, a state veterinarian, whose survey shows there are 169 herds with 1,858 head of cattle in the county, Johnson said.

The testing program was part of a campaign led by John T. Johnston, state commissioner of agriculture, for a "Brucellosis - Free West Virginia." On Nov. 3, the state was classified as a modified-certified Brucellosis - free area.

The disease, when contracted by humans, is called undulant fever, Johnson said. Johnson also issued a warning to hunters to be careful not to start forest fires when in the woods.

Iowa contains about 25 per cent of all the Grade A farmland in the United States.

Don't let garbage put you out!

INCINERATE IT! without smoke or smell

It's a Safer Way—to dispose of garbage than "canning" it for flies and germs to enjoy until collectors come. Just wrap it up and drop it in a tidy indoor gas incinerator, with or without other burnables. That ends it!

Trash Goes, Too—No need for papers, cartons, rags, etc., to accumulate. You can dispose of them immediately in the same clean unit. Even bones and gristle disappear silently! Just a little ash is all that remains!

No Fumes—The gas flame helps to intensify heat within the insulated chamber, to dry and burn the garbage. Fumes are drawn by the downdraft through a jet-like gas "afterburner" and are completely consumed. That's why the new gas incinerators are truly smokeless and odorless. End distasteful chores for pennies a day.

Court Income Drops $1,607

Municipal Court's overall income and the amount turned over to the city both dropped in October following slight gains in September, Clerk Harold L. Powell said today in his monthly report.

Despite the slumps, Powell said the 3,073 the court received and disbursed last month, including $2,698 to the city treasury, indicated "a good month" considering the effects of the steel strike.

The overall income of $3,073 was down $1,607 from September's $4,680, while the $2,698 paid to the city was a decrease of $1,563 from the $4,261 turned over in September.

The city's share of the revenue included $307 in costs on civil cases, $2,263 in fines, costs and forfeitures in criminal cases, and $127 as the city's share of fines and forfeits resulting from State Highway Patrol cases.

Besides the amount turned over to the city treasury, the court also disbursed $127 to the state treasurer for Highway Patrol cases, $50 to the state treasurer from a State Liquor Control case, $123 to the county treasurer for state cases, and $75 to the Law Library Association.

The total amount handled by the court last month was $3,984, just half of September's $7,967. The criminal branch handled $2,869, down $2,504 from September, while the civil branch received and disbursed $1,115, a decrease of $1,479 from September's $2,594.

The figures include funds received and turned over to plaintiffs and creditors from trusteeships, judgements and garnishee fees in civil cases and refunded bonds in criminal cases.

A breakdown of cases shows: 51 civil cases filed, 41 disposed of and 205 pending; 77 city criminal cases filed, 74 disposed of and 26 pending, and 36 state criminal cases filed, 35 disposed of, and 87 pending.

Johnson-For-President Clubs Spread In Texas, Report Says

By DAVE CHEAVENS

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Formation of Johnson-for-President clubs is spreading like a prairie fire across Texas, an Associated Press survey shows.

The spark that touched it off came less than a month ago, Oct. 17, from House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex).

The most remarkable feature of the statewide survey is not so much the number of clubs—now more than 50 and growing every day—but the variety of backing and the hefty local and state political muscle shown.

The senior senator from Texas on the record is running for reelection only. He says it is a long time until the 1960 convention and it's too early for him to take the plunge as an open candidate for the Democratic nomination.

But Rayburn and other backers such as Texas' Democratic national committeeman Byron Skelton of Temple, Gov. Price Daniel and state Democratic executive committee chairman Ed Connally of Abilene, shrug off Johnson's disavowals and keep up the big push.

Johnson's renomination for a new six-year term is regarded by his backers as in the bag. There has been no sign of an opponent.

The survey shows that local leaders pushing the Johnson-for-President clubs include mayors, county judges, state and county Democratic committeemen, elective and appointive officials on all political levels, business and professional leaders, farmers, ranchers.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sen. Theodore F. Green (D-RI), at 92 the nation's oldest senator, was recovering today from an eye operation.

The hospital said Green would be able to go home in a week to 10 days.

Rotary Hears Talk By Wade

Waterford Park strives consistently to provide good, clean horse racing for area fans, Horace Wade, managing director, told the Rotary Club at its meeting Tuesday noon in the Travelers Hotel.

Wade, a veteran of some 25 years in horse racing, discussed the track's position in the surrounding communities and also spun a few tales of racing lore encountered during his career.

Such devices as film patrols, a photo finish and employment of stewards are used by Waterford to keep thoroughbred racing as honest as possible, Wade said.

He promised a constant turnover in jockeys and horses from other tracks in the nation as further evidence that Waterford is striving for honesty in its racing operations.

"Economies are closely entwined within racing itself," Wade commented, and added that "fans should look behind the blinking tote boards to the horses themselves, where the actual glamour of racing is found."

The average $2 bettor comprises 90 per cent of the patronage at Waterford Park, Wade said. The "Two-Dollar Bennies," as they are called in racing circles, actually are the backbone of the sport, the managing director explained.

Wade also poked fun at various systems fans use in selecting a winner. His book, "Tales of the Turf," is being considered for a Hollywood movie.

He was introduced by Richard O. Wilson, program chairman. Five guests were present. Charles Taylor, president, presided.

Firm Studies Buying Of Desilu Productions

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) —A theater company is investigating the possibility of buying control of Desilu Productions, Inc.

Martin Leeds, Desilu executive vice president, said Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. Desi Arnaz (Lucille Ball) have told him to listen to any offers involving their 565,600 shares of stock. They own 49 per cent of Desilu.

Bidding Slated Nov. 30 On New Garbage Truck

Bids for a truck for the incinerator department with a huge "packer" body for hauling refuse will be opened at noon Nov. 30, Safety - Service Director Joseph F. Ross said today.

In calling for offers on the vehicle with a 16 cubic yard body, the city asked bidders to bid either with no trade - in of city equipment or with a simultaneous sale to the bidder of a 1956 Chevrolet truck with a 13 cubic yard body now used by the city. The present truck no longer is fit for public use, the director said.

Refers To Butler's Note

No Coercion To Meet Party Fund Quotas, DiSalle Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio Democrats will not be coerced into meeting national contribution quotas set by the party, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle asserted Tuesday.

DiSalle referred to Chairman Paul M. Butler's note to national committee members, governors and other party leaders saying that convention seating and hotel accommodations in Los Angeles next year might depend on how quotas are met.

"In establishing quotas," DiSalle commented, "the ability of states to pay should be taken into consideration."

According to Butler, Ohio ranked 47th amont states by paying $59,472 of its $182,000 quota for 1957-59. Ohio is credited with paying $9,817 of its 1959 quota of $66,000 to rank 25th among 32 states.

DiSalle said Ohio had paid between $10,000 and $12,000 of its 1959 obligation and an additional $1,000 for a special appeal.

"This is really trying to use a bludgeon. . . . If the delegates are to be coerced by the national chairman by threatening inadequate housing facilities and even floor accommodations, it can only be construed as a power play in the worst kind of way," the governor said.

He recalled that in 1956 and 1958 the national committee showed no consideratioon for Ohio. "We were left to shift for ourselves and did," he said.

DiSalle lauded State Chairman William L. Coleman as a leader who obtained cooperation to put state headquarters back on its financial feet without threats of force.

"From now on we may not pay anything because we may have to build our own housing facilities at the convention," DiSalle quipped.

DiSalle recalled that Butler beat him out for national chairman and said this action might be considered sour grapes on the governor's part. However, he said he was thankful he was given a much greater opportunity to serve the people of Ohio.

As a parting shot to newsmen, DiSalle, who is being pushed for "favorite son," said "if that does not prove to you I have no national aspirations, nothing does."

'Miss World' Of 1960 Pleased Over Charges Contest Rigged

LONDON (AP) — Corine Rottschafter, a blue-eyed Dutch blonde who won the 1960 "Miss World" title by a 5-4 vote Tuesday night, is pleased over charges that the contest was rigged.

"I'm a model and I need publicity," said Corine after her selection prompted wails of protest from the American and Canadian contestants. "Now I'll be able to charge higher prices."

Corine edged Miss Peru, Maria Rossel, 17, to take the crown, which ranks with Long Beach's "Miss Universe" and Atlantic City's "Miss America" in the upper bracket of beauty contests.

Both Loretta Powell of Bridgeport, Conn., representing the United States, and Miss Canada, Huguette Demerrs, charged that padding was responsible for the 37-inch bust that topped the winner's 22 waist and 37 hips.

They also claimed that Corine is engaged to one of the judges — Frenchman Claude Behr, a beauty contest organizer who sponsored Corine in last year's Miss Universe competition.

"I've heard this talk but believe me there's nothing to it," Behr declared. "Some of the girls apparently believe Corine is my fiancee but that's impossible—I'm already married."

Corine denied the padding charge, asserting, "I had no support, no wires, no padding."

Third prize went to Ziva Shomrat, 18, a private in the Israeli army. She was followed by Anne Thelwell of England, 22, and Kirsten Olsen, 20, of Denmark.

Former Resident To Discuss Illness On TV Thursday

A former East Liverpool resident will appear as a guest on a network television show, which will be seen in the tri-state area Thursday, to discuss a new miracle drug with which he is being treated.

But Donald Torrence, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Torrence, 1440 Etruria St., will receive even better medicine on the show, "It Could Be You."

His son, Kim Torrence, 12, and his mother were flown to Los Angeles Monday to appear as surprise guests on the program. Kim has been residing with his grandparents since his father became ill in July.

The show was televised Tuesday in Los Angeles but was taped for showing in the East Thursday at 12:30 p. m. It is seen on Channels 6, 7 and 11.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Torrence moved to the Los Angeles area a year ago from East Liverpool, where they formerly lived at 1551 Cleveland Ave. His wife is the former Esther Pratt.

Torrence became ill in July, however, and has been a patient in a Veterans Hospital at Sepulveda, Calif., since then. He will discuss how the new drug has helped him.

Infant Boy Something Of Medical Wonder

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Paul Thomas Mullins, just 12 days old, is something of a medical wonder.

He has had four complete exchange blood transfusions. He probably is one of the youngest infants ever to have his heart stop beating and survive.

Paul's mother, Mrs. Thomas Mullins of Peck's Mill, has RH negative blood. Paul's blood is RH positive. One complete blood exchange is common in such cases.

Paul born five weeks premature and weighing 5½ pounds at birth, had four transfusions and was undergoing a fifth when his heart stopped Oct. 31. His chest was opened, and his heart was massaged into functioning.

He is in an incubator at Charleston Memorial Hospital.

Anti-White Rioting Erupts Again In Africa

PAARL, South Africa (AP) — Anti-white rioting broke out here again Tuesday night as thousands of screaming Africans stoned cars and fought police for the second consecutive night.

One African has been killed, eight Africans and Asians injured and three whites injured.

The Africans are retaliating for the banishment of a woman trade union leader who has since disappeared. There was speculation she had sought asylum in Basutoland or Bechuanaland, neighboring British protectorates.

'Startling Facts' Seen In Fatal Tanker Blast

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A Coast Guard officer said Tuesday some "startling facts" have been uncovered about the fire and explosion Sunday that destroyed the tanker Amoco Virginia with a loss of eight lives.

Cmdr. Charles F. Kaminski, heading the Houston portion of the probe, said "We spent yesterday getting a line on those we propose to interview. But I have already come across some startling facts."

Kaminski would not elaborate on the findings pending a formal hearing.

Seven crewmen, including the captain, died when the tanker caught fire and exploded. A Houston fireman died the next day while trying to cool the ship.

200 Soldiers Battle, Quell Forest Blaze

FT. LEONARD WOOD, Mo. (AP)—Two hundred smoke blackened soldiers battled a roaring forest fire for seven hours Tuesday before extinguishing it.

The fire licked to within 30 feet of a trailer camp for enlisted men and their families, but no one was injured.

Most of the fire was in the Mark Twain National Forest, part of which is on the military reservation. About 400 acres of trees were consumed.

Winds gusts of up to 25 miles an hour scattered the flames and at times weary soldiers battled as many as seven fires. The wind finally died down.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

3 CARD OF THANKS

VRYL MARSHALL — We wish to thank all of our kind friends and neighbors for their many kind expressions of sympathy and condolence during our recent bereavement. — Mrs. Marshall and Family.

OUR sorrow is hard to bear, but we know that without the comfort and consolation of our friends, neighbors and relatives, the loss of our beloved Mother, MAYME BUCHER SHEPHERD would have been a heavy burden. To each and every person whose kindness and thoughtfulness helped us so much at this time, we extend our grateful acknowledgement. Signed Daughters, Mrs. Louise Dent, Mrs. Ruth Cater.

NO PLACE LIKE (YOUR OWN) HOME

No. 1 In past years, I was one of the show places in this district. My former owners are gone, I made them want to say we own this home. There is still plenty of Living left in me, if someone would only spend a few dollars in rejuvenating me. I'm a large brick home with five bedrooms, two baths, large reception hall, living room, dining room and kitchen that you can really live-in. Large basement, new hot water furnace, two car garage, ½ acre of nice laying ground. All I need is someone to spend a few hundred dollars in rejuvenating me, then you will be proud to say we own this home. I'm priced to sell. Call FU 5-4338 for further information.

No. 2 I'm a four room home with bath, good well water, I set on approximately two acres of nice sloping land. I want a new owner. I'm yours for only $4,750.00

No. 3 Here is really a bargain. Three room house, city water, no bath, no cellar, no garage, but I do have two (2) 40x106 ft. lots. I'm now vacant. I'm priced at only $1,000.00. YES, thats the total price. $1,000.00

No. 4 Income Property — Duplex 4 rooms and bath, gas furnace, 3 rooms and bath, garage. Income is $100 per month gross. Owner lives out of city. He says sell for $6,000.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY MEYERS

Parents Must Aid In Anti-Smut Drive

Does your child number among the estimated million teen - agers receiving pornographic literature through the mails? "The material comes in a plain envelope, bearing your child's name. The pictures inside defy description. Some of them masquerade as 'art photographs'. Others are portraits to be hung in a youth's room as a reminder of 'how joyous life can be if one is 'modern'." So writes Dr. Eva Grant in the September issue of the National Parent - Teacher magazine, which she edits. She quotes Arthur E. Summerfield, U. S. Postmaster General, as saying that the "large, defiant barons of obscenity" sell by mail some $700,000,000 of filth annually.

By Garry Meyers

—:—

SHE REPORTS the efforts of the Post Office Department to rid the mails of this filth, although hampered for the want of adequate laws.

When a law with teeth in it does get through a state legislature and wins the governor's signature, it is unlikely to escape nullification of the courts.

But there is a Federal law now in force making it possible to prosecute the merchant of filth at intermediate offices and the point of delivery. It authorizes fines up to $10,000, and imprisonment for ten years for second offenders.

Two steps the Post Office Department urges on all parents:

1. To save all materials received, including the envelope and enclosures.

2. To report the matter at once to the Postmaster General or to the local postmaster and turn the materials over to him.

EDITOR GRANT calls upon all parents to get back of the Post Office Department in its campaign to remove smut from the mails. She will be read and heard by the leading members of the local PTA, who total over 11,000,000 parents, backed up by The National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

All parents will welcome this proposal for protection of their children. But it may never have occurred to many parents that they themselves have raised no objection to the pornographic paragraphs in some of the best sellers they and their adult friends are reading. The vivid word - pictures, in these portions, if actually pictured, would often outdo in lewdness many of the obscene materials being mailed to their children.

WHEN THESE books are left lying around the home and read by the children, won't they wonder why their parents are making such a stir about the pornographic pictures they receive by mail? Won't these youths suppose their parents are hypocritical?

Parents could, of course, hide these books. Yet doing so would make them more attractive to their teen-age children. Worse still, it would destroy the desirable parent-child relationship of mutual trust and companionship.

$3.6 Million Low Bid On Steubenville Spans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Highways today opened bids on an estimated 12 million dollars' worth of construction projects.

By far the largest involves construction of six bridges in the Steubenville-Mingo Junction area to improve the flow of traffic on Ohio 7 by eliminating a half-dozen intersections. The department describes the big project as a part of a long-term program to upgrade Ohio 7 paralleling the Ohio River. Apparent low bid was $3,620,838 by C. S. Replogle Co., Circleville. The state estimate was $4,315,200.

Another multi-million - dollar project involves an underpass on Vine Street just east of Ohio 2 in Willoughby. Apparent low bid was $1,490,137 by John F. Casey, Pittsburgh, Pa. State estimate: $1,934,000.

Removal Protested

HEIDELBURG, Germany (AP) — A Lutheran pastor, the Rev. Max Lackmann, who was retired by his synod for holding views "too positive" toward the Roman Catholic Church, did not have a sufficient hearing or the right to appeal his case, another Lutheran pastor, Dr. Hans Asmussen, has protested.

'Pinewood Derby' Details Advanced By Scout Leaders

LISBON — The camping and activities committee of the Columbiana Boy Scout Council is pushing plans for the second annual Cub Scout "Pinewood Derby."

Howard Firestone of Salem, council camping and activities chairman, along with Carroll Greene of Salem, Shawnee District camping and activities chairman, and William Rayburn of Calcutta, Cherokee District camping and activities chairman, announced that a new eight - lane derby track now is under construction for the model cars.

The new track will be sponsored by the New Waterford Bank. Last year's races were run on a two-lane track. The racers are about 6 inches long and can weigh not over 5 ounces. Cub Scouts, with help from their fathers, construct the racers. Last year's district races saw over 200 entries and that number is expected to be doubled this year.

The Cherokee District race will be held at Westgate School in East Liverpool Saturday, Nov. 28, at 2 p. m. The Shawnee District derby is set for the Memorial Building in Salem Saturday, Dec. 5, also at 2 p. m.

Winners in the two districts then will meet in Lisbon on Saturday, Dec. 12, at the High School for the finals. Clubs will be competing for trophies and ribbons.

Slowdown For Priests

HILDESHEIM, Germany (AP) — Roman Catholic Bishop Heinrich Maria Janssen has told his hard-working priests to slow down. "Shortage of priests and growing tasks are endangering the health of our priests," he said. "Therefore, we must make new attempts to get some rest for them."
